Nomura, last Japanese Ambassador to the U.S., said "We must be prepared for the transition of the war from a preliminary to a truly serious stage." He acknowledged the Japanese defeat in the Mariana Islands, but asserted "retreat and advance in war is only a natural course." He predicted a long war.

Polish Patriots In Warsaw Quit; Russ Mass Army

LONDON (AP) — Polish resistance forces have given up their struggle to wrest besieged and battered Warsaw from the Germans, Polish army headquarters announced today.

A terse communique from Gen. Tadeusz (Bor) Komorowski, new Polish commander-in-chief, said: "Warsaw has fallen."

(While this was occurring in Warsaw an A.P. dispatch from Moscow told how the Red Army was gathering strength like a coiling spring today from the Balkans to the Baltic for new onslaughts which the Russians expect will force Hungary to capitulate and bring about the capture of Riga, the Latvian capital and seaport.

(Soviet press dispatches told of the Germans being squeezed "into the last square kilometres" of the Riga sector.)

Gen. Komorowski's communique confirmed earlier reports from both Berlin and Moscow that fighting inside Warsaw had ended. Russian forces are in Praga, the industrial eastern suburb of Warsaw, separated from the main city by the swift Vistula River.

Earlier, Polish sources in London insisted that only a "mercy truce" had been ordered to remove civilians from the city of 1,265,000.

A Polish military spokesman in London asserted Gen. Komorowski, Poland's new commander-in-chief, also known as Gen. Bor, was inside Warsaw with his troops, "contrary to all other reports," and that he would resume the fight as soon as the evacuation was completed.

But, from Moscow, Associated Press war correspondent Daniel de Luce wrote that an "official" Polish report—presumably from the Soviet-sponsored National Liberation Committee—had announced that Warsaw's resistance had collapsed.

That report said the capitulation had been arranged by Col. Komorowski, and said those who repudiated the surrender were fighting to escape to the Soviet-held right bank of the Vistula.

The confusion after two months of desperate street-by-street fighting was reflected by German radio reports which first announced that resistance had ceased and then later reported fighting had been resumed.

While even Polish military men were acknowledging the struggle in Warsaw could not continue much longer, the dispute between the London government and the Polish committee in Moscow over internal affairs increased in intensity.

Big Allied Forces Landed in Crete, Morocco Radio Says

LONDON (CP) Strong Allied forces have landed on the northwest part of Crete, the Morocco radio asserted today.

The brief announcement gave no details.

The German garrison at Crete, however, appeared in a hopeless position in view of the Allied occupation earlier of the island of Kythera, between Crete and the mainland of Greece.

The Germans have been reported to be withdrawing their forces from islands ringing the southern tip of Greece, but there have been no indications they had evacuated Crete—symbol of one of the Germans' greatest triumphs in this war.

Allied headquarters in Rome recently announced Crete had been blockaded by Allied naval forces and reported continuing air attacks on Nazi installations on the island.

NAVY RETURNS

Boldly and unmolested in waters where many of her sister warships fought a losing battle with the German air force more than three years ago, the British cruiser Black Prince shelled the Maleme airdrome on Crete last Saturday night.

The shelling was intended to knock out the field from which big Junkers 52 transports have been evacuating Nazi personnel.

Despite bad weather, Balkan Air Force planes attacked Nazi troop concentrations, gun positions and shipping in the port of Zara on the Dalmatian coast. Allied headquarters remained silent, however, on the activity of Allied forces in the Adriatic, Albania and other Balkan areas.

A dispatch Monday night said British commandos landed unopposed on the Island of Kythera the night of Sept. 15. A week before a garrison of 150 Germans had fled after destoroying a wireless station they had maintained there.

No Allied Decision On Reparations Yet

Victoria Seaman Fined for Striking

VANCOUVER (CP)- J. A. McAllister of Victoria, fireman aboard the Ss. Wascana Park charged with combining with others to impede the ship's voyage while en route from a South American port to Vancouver, was fined $25 or 30 days in jail when he was convicted in police court today.

Stay of proceedings was entered against four others charged with a similar offence.

The charges, laid under the Canada Shipping Act, followed refusal of the "black gang" or engineroom crew to take the ship to sea until such a time as potatoes were obtained in a foreign port and placed aboard the ship.

Election Coming

LONDON (CP-Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that while a British general election is not imminent it is impending.

"I cannot think an election is imminent," he said. "It is what you might call impending rather than imminent."

He's Dead, But He Can't Lie Down

U.S. Officials Fear Relations of Allies Weaker By Victory

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States officials are becoming mildly apprehensive lest there should be a general weakening of Allied co-operation—particularly in relations between Britain and Russia—as the war against Germany concludes. The Polish situation is being studied in this light.

At the moment, the highest aim of U.S. diplomacy may be described as designed to preserve this unity during the critical period now beginning, in which postwar economic and political policies must be formed throughout Europe.

On the shaping of these policies, it is believed, depends the ultimate success of whatever world peace league may be set up.

The core of the diplomatic problem is regarded as being the mutual suspicions and misunderstandings which cloud the dealings between Russia and the rest of the world. Partly this is the expected result of conflict of interest between Russia and Britain in the Balkans; partly the result of ignorance about how people inside and outside Russia do things differently.

EXPANSION IN BALKANS

By far the most serious clash of Anglo-Russian interests is in the Balkans because of Russia's westward expansion of influence and Britain's concern over the Turkish-Dardanelles flank of the Empire lifeline to India. Probably less vital but more spectacular is the conflict over Poland.

The Polish issue is by no means the only such situation. Britain's reported insistence on holding Bulgarian armistice talks at Cairo; Russia's subsequent unexpected declaration of war on Bulgaria; the unhesitating ejection of British and U.S. military missions from Bulgaria—even though there is some question whether they were properly in the country—all are considered incidents of the type which are beginning to tax to the limit those diplomats and officials whose primary objective is postwar collaboration of the victorious Allies.

Victoria Boeing Plant, Employing 350, to Close

Victoria plant of Boeing Aircraft of Canada Ltd. will be closed towards the end of the year unless further contracts are secured, it was announced today by Al. Young, local manager. About 350 employees, 60 per cent of whom are women, will be affected.

Boeing's main plant in Vancouver is now retooling for the building of a substantial unit of the Boeing-29, the Superfortress. For several years the plant has been constructing PBY flying boats, known as Cansos.

Victoria fitted into the Boeing picture two years ago when it became necessary to have some of the smaller parts made outside the Vancouver plant. Victoria constructed wing tips and floats.

Announcement was made last week that the Nelson plant would be closed and a statement from Vancouver officials of the company today said "barring the possibility of additional orders being obtained for parts which are suitable for sub-assembly plants, the branch plants at Victoria and Chilliwack will be closed when they have completed the specific work assigned to them." This would be in about six weeks.

The Vancouver plant has obtained an additional contract for building a unit of the Mosquito bomber.

The best of the men from the plant here will go to Vancouver if Selective Service regulations permit, John McGraw, assistant manager in Vancouver said.

R.A.F. Bombs Inundate Island Held By Nazis Guarding Antwerp

LONDON (CP) — Hundreds of R.A.F. heavy bombers breached the seawall guarding the Netherlands island of Welcheren with six-ton bombs today and sent the North Sea pouring over German installations denying the Allies use of the great Belgian port of Antwerp, 35 miles farther down the Schelde estuary.

The British bombers struck after 1,700 U.S. planes had attacked war industries and airfields at the south German cities of Nurnberg, Gaggenau and Giebelstadt.

The fire and water blow at the biggest of the Netherlands islands in the Schelde came less than a day after Gen. Eisenhower had warned civilians to evacuate before heavy bombings. Walcheren is the westernmost of the islands barring the seaward approach to Antwerp, and is known to mount heavy guns capable of raking the approaches to the undamaged Belgian port, which the swift British advance captured intact. Some of the guns may be able to shoot all the 35 miles to Antwerp.

12,000-LB. BOMBS

The "earthquake" bombs of 12,000 pounds tore gaps in the dyke near the village of West Capelle, on the southwestern tip of Walcheren. Crews of attacking Lancasters reported a great sheet of water was spreading across the lowlands when the bombers turned for home.

A thousand U.S. heavy bombers struck south Germany and it was the seventh day in nine that 1,000 or more of the heavy bombers had hammered the Reich.

Objectives included:

The Nurnberg tank works.

The Daimler-Benz truck factory at Gaggenau, 40 miles south of Karlsruhe.

A big German air force base at Giebelstadt, 53 miles west of Nurnberg.

HIT 51 TRAINS

The Allied air offensive rolled on after R.A.F. Mosquitoes Monday night had carried out one of their best moonlight train-busting forays in Germany and Holland.

Besides shooting up 51 freight trains, nine barges and five motor transports, the Mosquitoes also ran a Nazi trawler ashore off the Dutch coast and bombed a small factory in western Germany. None of the fleet bombers was lost.

Other small forces of Mosquitoes attacked Brunswick and Nazi airfields in western Germany, following up the daylight attack in which more than 2,500 Allied planes roamed the sky over the Reich virtually unchallenged.

Crowds Jam Office To Pay City Taxes

A bigger crowd of city property owners jammed the city tax collector's office Monday than has been seen there for the last eight or nine years at least, officials reported today as they totaled collections far above those for the equivalent day in 1943.

Monday marked the deadline at which taxes could be paid without imposition of a 1 per cent penalty. Collections amounted to $76,594 against $60,260 on the final pre-penalty day last year.

Further penalties of 1 per cent are applied Nov. 2 and Nov. 16, with a final 3 per cent charge going on at the beginning of December.

Victoria Regiment With 3rd Division Stormed Boulogne

By WILLIAM STEWART

WITH THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY (CP)—The 3rd Canadian Division—veteran of the Battle of Normandy—was the Canadian infantry force which in the last two weeks of September assaulted and overcame the big German garrison at Boulogne, capturing the Channel supply port and taking 11,000 prisoners.

The operation was remarkable for two things:

1. The manner in which infantrymen with strong air support and backed by specialized British armored formations sometimes called "Zoos," fought their way through German defence belts with concrete backbones.

2. The smallness of the Canadian infantry force which carried out the operation.

GIVEN AN HOUR

All organized resistance ended at Boulogne on the afternoon of Sept. 22, after six days of assault by Canadian infantrymen backed up by British and Canadian armor.

The Canadian commander sent a note to tell the Germans they must surrender or die. "You have one hour to make up your minds . . . surrender or die from flames."

As it happened a German prisoner-messenger delivered the note to the wrong fort. But the end finally came when a formation of tanks led by Lieut. A. P. Thompson of Souris, Man., poised themselves for a last crack at the garrison.

When he surrendered, the German commander, Lieut.-Gen. Ferdinand Heim, said the tanks had forced his decision merely by their presence. He had nothing left with which to fight them off.

Le Regiment de la Chaudiere of Lake Megantic, Que., was disclosed Monday to have had an important part in the assault and capture of Boulogne. The French-speaking troops were assigned to the attack when it began Sept. 17, and took a whole series of fortified positions north of the port, but did not take part in the final entry and clean up Boulogne.

Other Canadian 3rd Division units which stormed ashore in Normandy on D-Day and took part in subsequent battles were:

Canadian Scottish Regiment, Victoria.

1st Hussars, London, Ont.

Sherbrooke Fusilier Regiment, Sherbrooke, Que.

Royal Winnipeg Rifles, Winnipeg.

Regina Rifles Regiment, Regina.

Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, Toronto.

North Shore (New Brunswick) Regiment, Newcastle, N.B.

Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, Cornwall, Ont.

North Nova Scotia Highlanders, Amherst, N.S.

Highland Light Infantry of Canada, Galt, Ont.

Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa, Ottawa.

17th Duke of York's Royal Canadian Hussars, Montreal.

526,084 Prisoners

ALLIED SUPREME HEADQUARTERS (AP)—The prisoner count for Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British and Canadian Army group has risen to 140,345, with the figures complete to Sept. 29, headquarters said today.

Officers totaling 1,030, and 76,679 other ranks have been taken by the British 2nd Army.

Officers to a total of 1,247 and 61,389 ranks have been captured by the 1st Canadian Army—28,000 of them in the Le Havre, Boulogne and Calais clean-up jobs.

The six Allied armies in western Europe had captured at least 526,084 German prisoners by tonight.

Prisoners announced captured by armies of the west to date:

U.S. 1st Army, 183,827.
U.S. 3rd Army, 92,600.
U.S. 7th Army, 90,000 or more.
U.S. 9th Army, 19,312.
British 2nd Army, 77,709.
1st Canadian Army, 62,636.
Total, 526,084.

Figures for the four U.S. armies have not been revised since Sept. 24 and may now be considerably higher.

Canadian Polish Units On Border East of Antwerp

By JAMES M. LONG

LONDON (AP)—U.S. 1st Army troops have broken through the Siegfried Line north of Aachen, capturing Ubach and threatening Aachen with complete encirclement.

Driving through a break in the first heavy crust of Westwall defences, the Yanks by 11 a.m. had fought four miles forward from their jump-off point of Monday, a front dispatch said, and cut the main highway leading north of the Siegfried bastion city of Aachen.

The crash-through opened a second major break in Hitler's Westwall defences, AP correspondent Don Whitehead said. The other breach has been carved out south of Aachen, which is astride a main highway to the Rhine and its rich war industries.

MERXEM CLEARED

Dismal weather reduced activity on the British-Canadian-Polish front. Canadians pushed the Germans out of Merxem, a suburb one mile northeast of Antwerp. There were no enemy counter-attacks in the British Arnhem-Nijmegen sector, but one at Overloon, 17 miles southeast of Nijmegen cost the Germans half the tanks and troops they had thrown into the drive.

It was disclosed today that Polish infantry and armor under 1st Canadian Army command had reached the Holland-Belgium border in at least two places east and slightly north of Antwerp, in the area between the villages of Merxplas in Belgium and Baarle Nassau in Holland.

Meanwhile, sizeable elements of Canadian infantry which crossed the Antwerp-Turnhout Canal at St. Leonard have pushed west in the direction of the port city, while at the same time Germans who have been holding out in the northeastern outskirts reported pulling out. They had drawn back from Merxem and were also withdrawing to the north.

To the north of the U.S. 1st Army wedge, Allied soldiers all along the Maas (Meuse) River line applied supporting pressure to keep the enemy from shifting reserves.

BRITISH IN OVERLOON

British 2nd Army forces drove eight miles from Deuze to Meijel and flung the Germans from Overloon, their last strong Holland pocket west of the Meuse 17 miles southeast of Nijmegen.

All along that line and north along the Nijmegen-Arnhem corridor they were in close contact with strong German forces as the Nazis poured reserves across the Rhine in an effort to hold the Allied tide back from the vital Ruhr area.

On the western flank of the corridor, past 's Hertogenbosch to the Dutch border north of Antwerp, no progress was reported.

Douks Ask Release

OTTAWA (CP) — The full bench of the Supreme Court of Canada will hear Oct. 12 argument in a test case arising from the jailing of scores of Doukhobors in British Columbia several months ago for taking part in a nude protest parade in public.

Argument will be on a motion for a writ of habeas corpus which was heard Monday in chambers before Mr. Justice A. E. Hudson. Mr. Justice Hudson referred the motion to the full court.

Bonus Vacations

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. announced today it is seeking government approval of a plan to give re-employed veterans of this war "bonus" vacations.

Under the plan any former Ford employee who returns to work in any of the company's plants within 60 days after discharge from the armed forces would receive a full vacation with pay if he returns at least six months before Dec. 1 of any year.

8th Army Advance In Italy Stopped By Flooding River

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME (AP)—The British 8th Army's attack on the Adriatic sector was brought to a complete standstill by the flooded Fiumicino River, behind which the Germans are strongly entrenched, it was announced today.

U.S. infantry captured Monghidoro, an important road junction 18 miles due south of Bologna, as the Allied 5th Army plowed slowly northward Monday through the Apennines in a drive still handicapped by deep mud.

The Germans counterattacked U.S. troops on the dominant heights of Monte Battaglia and Monte Cappella which command a road joining the important Bologna-Rimini highway at Imola, 11 miles away.

On the road to Imola itself enemy resistance remained strong. The farthest point of advance was Carseggio, roughly a mile behind the strongholds on the two peaks.

In addition to capturing Monghidoro, toward Bologna along Highway 65 (the Florence-Bologna highway), 5th Army troops took Cedrechia, three miles west of the highway and 18½ miles south of Bologna.

BRAZILIANS GAIN

On the Italian west coast the Brazilian expeditionary force has been slugging steadily forward and took Monte Nona.

Units moving north in the Serchio River valley have gained in the vicinity of Pian Della Rocca and Fornoli.

Heavy rains and heavy traffic made many by-passes on the 5th Army front unusable, thus limiting advances in all sectors.

While 8th Army assault forces were compelled to await the receding Fiumicino's flood, New Zealand anti-aircraft gunners on the Adriatic coast achieved one of the war's rarest victories by engaging a light German vessel and sinking it with three shots from a Bofors 40-millimetre gun.

Gen. Alexander's headquarters announced that the total number of prisoners, taken by the 8th Army in its current Adriatic offensive had risen to 9,000.

In the mountain sector British troops and one Indian division captured Monte Reggiano and the town of Borghi, both 11 miles west of Rimini near the Fiumicino River.

War Production Cut-Back Expected Early Next Year

By JACK WILLIAMS

OTTAWA (CP) — Final decision on Canada's 1945 war production program has not yet been reached, but informed sources consider reductions in some lines inevitable.

Presuming the war in Europe continues until the end of this year, however, the over-all production for the last quarter of 1944 will be only the barest shade below the third quarter, which means drastic cuts are not forthcoming immediately.

With more than 75 per cent of Canada's war output being made on order from other United Nation countries — and particularly the United Kingdom, the extent to which plants are to be kept busy on war materials next year is naturally dependent on the requirements of other nations.

Recent unofficial estimates have placed the extent of the approaching cut-back as high as 50 per cent, but at the moment it appears at least possible that continuation of the war in Europe until sometime next year may reduce that figure.

NEED 2 WEEKS

It is expected to be at least another two weeks before requirements on which 1945 schedules can be drafted will be known to Canadian authorities.

There now are between 725,000 and 750,000 Canadian workers engaged in direct or indirect war work. The number who would be released should a 50 per cent cut be made would depend on the types of material in which reductions were made, but it is considered likely it would be approximately 300,000, and that they would be let out of war plants gradually over a 12-month period.

Meantime, labor demands of war industry continue high. Labor Minister Mitchell has called for 100,000 farm workers to take other essential jobs during the agricultural off-season. Most of them — about 60,000 — will be needed for lumbering and wood cutting.

LOOKING FORWARD

A tendency among workers to seek jobs with a peacetime future has become apparent, and in a recent drive for 10,000 additional workers in the heavy ammunition industry weeks were spent without any over-all gain, simply because the number of new workers balanced those lost to the industry.

The airplane industry as a whole faces a slowing down, though production of Lancaster and Mosquito bombers is likely to continue at a high level.

The wartime shipbuilding program is tapering off, and efforts are being made to obtain postwar contracts for war-created yards. A Montreal company has a contract for four small coastal ships for Brazil, and it is understood a contract is pending for the construction of a number of coastal ships for the United Kingdom in B.C. coast yards at a total cost of $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

Merriman Round-up . . .

IN SPITE of rationing Canadians are eating a lot more. Milk consumption is up 17 per cent over prewar days, cheese 20 per cent, meat 32 per cent and eggs 27 per cent. In 1935 each Canadian averaged 56 pounds of beef as his yearly diet. Last year it was 72.5 pounds . . . Discouragement of beard growing in the Canadian navy has evidently not been as effective as hoped. A new order has been issued. It says officers and men may wear beards if they so desire but they must be informed that experience of recent sinkings has shown that oil collecting in beards has blocked the nasal passages, resulting in death of men who might otherwise have been saved.

CANADIAN PRESS WRITER BLACKBURN in Washington considers it a deplorable fact that, when so much of the world's future depends on the attitude of the United States, the country should be torn by the animosities of a presidential election campaign. "Thus we have had," he writes, "President Roosevelt at Quebec treating with Prime Minister Churchill on matters of the gravest import: matters which will come to a head perhaps after the Nov. 7 election. Yet there is no certainty that after Nov. 7 Mr. Roosevelt will be in a position to speak for the United States."

Ottawa to Construct Puntledge Fishway

Construction of a fish ladder over the dam on the Puntledge River, facilitating movement of salmon and trout into Comox Lake will start early in 1945, Attorney-General R. L. Maitland announces, following long consultation with Ottawa authorities.

The Attorney-General took up the matter some months ago after representations had been made to him by the Courtenay and District Fish and Game Association and the B.C. Game Board. He immediately communicated with Hon. Ernest Bertrand, federal Minister of Fisheries.

"I am delighted with the co-operation shown by Mr. Bertrand in this matter, for it is of considerable importance to the people of Comox-Courtenay district," Mr. Maitland said.

Political Parties In Britain Shaping Plans for Election

By DOUGLAS AMARON

LONDON (CP) — Britain's political parties are shaping plans for the next general election, currently expected to be held some time next year, and expected to involve Conservative, labor and Liberal candidates, whose parties since 1940 have been joined in a national government.

The present tired Parliament will enter its 10th year next month, and most members in it hope it will be its last. Public opinion also is demanding a fresh and younger House of Commons, and if half the present members retain their seats it will be surprising. Indeed, some 200 members in the 615-member House have anounced they will not seek re-election.

Indications are that the election will be fought on party lines. The Labor Party, whose strength among the public has grown during the war years, has decided through its executive to fight the election as an independent political force, and the decision almost certainly will be confirmed at the party conference in December.

LABOR'S PART VITAL

Of particular interest is the decision, not yet taken, as to the part Labor's government ministers will play during the period between the dissolution of Parliament and the election. The government still governs during such a period, and the position arises where ministers criticizing one another from campaign platforms may still be co-operating around the cabinet council table.

Despite the Labor Party's decision to contest the election as an independent body, its participation in a coalition even after the voting is not ruled out. The election results would decide this, with a coalition likely only if Labor members were not returned in sufficient strength to give them a solid working majority.

LIBERAL REVIVAL

The Liberal Party's place in the future is of increasing interest for although its membership in the House is not large it has been most active in recent years and a Liberal "revival" is predicted in some quarters. The party gained prestige by the acquisition of the popular Sir William Beveridge, author of the Beveridge Social Security Plan.

Personalities are beginning to come into the election picture with predictions — authoritative guesswork—being made about prospective party leaders. Anthony Eden, Foreign Secretary, seems to have a clear field as successor to Prime Minister Churchill when the present Prime Minister and Conservative leader retires, but there is nothing so certain as far as the other parties are concerned.

Clement Attlee, Lord President of the Council, may continue to lead the Parliamentary Labor Party although many Labor followers would prefer a more vote-catching personality.

A dark horse is Sir Stafford Cripps, Independent, who is Minister of Aircraft Production. Some sources say Sir Stafford is considering joining Sir Richard Acland's Common Wealth Party with the intention of leading that movement into the Labor Party.

THE BUDGETEERS INVITE YOU TO BUDGET YOUR SPENDING FOR VICTORY
Here's a new budget plan to help you—Send for a free copy of the Budget Calendar

YOU can make your wartime dollars do more for your family and for your country if you budget your spending, believe the Budgeteers. They hold that budgeting is now the patriotic as well as the sensible thing for most families to do. Don't you want to join them in their campaign? Don't you want to help keep the home front strong by budgeting your spending for Victory?

A totally new way to budget

Budgeteers use the Budget Calendar—a new and simple budget method supplied by Household Finance without charge. The Calendar is based on a totally new approach to the problem of planning family spending. It doesn't ask you to fit your way of living into a fixed pattern that may or may not suit you. It doesn't ask you to set aside so much for this item and so much for that. It simply starts out with the expenses you now have and helps you to meet them with the money you have to spend. Maybe that's the reason so many users have called the Calendar a "budget plan that really works."

Helps to stretch your dollars

Think how much you are trying to do with your pay cheques these days! Pay for your share of war bonds, keep up with wartime taxes, contribute to service organizations, feed, clothe and house your family so that they can do their part on the home front, on the production lines that keep the battle fronts going. A budget can help you plan your spending to get the most out of every dollar.

Join the Budgeteers

We will gladly send you the Budget Calendar by return mail. You are also invited to join the Budgeteers. Budgeteers receive a new booklet or letter from time to time to encourage them in their efforts and may ask for individual help with their problems at any time. All Budgeteers who complete a full year of budgeting receive special recognition.

The Budget Calendar was published by Household Finance, Canada's oldest and largest Small Loans company, as a service to customers. Other families soon found it helpful in solving their wartime budgeting problems. So we decided to make the Calendar available to everyone who wishes to try this practical way to plan family spending. Why don't you send the coupon for a free copy? We will not annoy you with loan advertising of any kind.

To Close Jap Camp

VANCOUVER (CP) — George Collins, chairman of the B.C. Security Commission, announced here that the Japanese evacuation camp at Kaslo, B.C., will be closed.

This was made possible by substantial eastern movement of former Pacific coast Japanese who have been housed in B.C. interior camps since shortly after Pearl Harbor.

Langford Legion

LANGFORD — Prince Edward Branch No. 91, Canadian Legion, will meet tonight in their hall on the Island Highway, Langford, at 7.30.

5 R.C.A.F. Officers Get Flying Crosses

OTTAWA (CP)—The R.C.A.F. has announced the award of five Distinguished Flying Crosses to R.C.A.F. personnel serving overseas.

The recipients: Flt. Lt. M. L. Dubois, Norwood, Man.; Flt. Lt. W. J. McNicol, Vancouver; FO. H. H. Gregson, Castor, Alta.; FO. W. F. Kirkwood, and PO. C. N. Matheson.

Victoria Navigator Plays Big Part In Sinking Nazi U-Boat

WITH THE R.C.A.F. IN COASTAL COMMAND (CP) — Three more U-boats were hunted down and attacked by Coastal Command Liberator bombers during recent patrols, the R.C.A.F. has announced.

U-boat No. 1 was attacked by a bomber belonging to the famous R.A.F. Dawn Patrol Squadron.

Flt.-Lt. J. R. Morrill of Kamloops, B.C., was second pilot.

The U-boat was traveling on the surface when sighted. At gun positions on the sub's deck, Nazi gunners waited for the bomber to close range, and opened with a heavy barrage. The Liberator gunners immediately replied, and at least one German sailor was shot into the sea.

Depth charges were dropped and the Liberator's starboard beam gunner saw a bright yellow explosion amid the depth charge plumes. A large oil patch was later observed on the surface.

SUCCESS IN CHANNEL

U-boat No. 2 was hunted down and attacked in the English Channel by another Liberator crew, captained by FO. H. H. Gordon-Cooper of Medicine Hat, Alta. Other Canadians in his crew were FO. W. J. Hartrick of Victoria, navigator, and WO1. T. Levinsky of Winnipeg, wireless air gunner. Despite mist, fog and rough sea, Hartrick spotted the sub when the aircraft was only a quarter-mile away. The U-boat opened fire with four streams of red tracers, but the skipper took evasive action and the aircraft was not hit.

Depth charges were dropped from a low level and were seen to straddle the submarine's wake, 50 feet astern. The crew circled until naval vessels arrived to carry out a search for the U-boat, which had submerged.

The third U-boat, discovered operating in the North Atlantic, was attacked by a crew captained by PO. Morris Weiner of Montreal, who has attacked four subs since joining Coastal Command.

A Canadian wireless operator air gunner flying with his crew was WO2. R. P. Lesueur of Vancouver.

Weiner flew low over the target and dropped depth charges. The Liberator kept circling the area, but no further trace of the enemy was seen.

B.C. Has Money For Kootenay Ferry

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Funds for construction of a new Kootenay Lake ferry and for provision of an improved ferry service are immediately available, Premier John Hart assured a gathering of more than 100 Nelson men at a banquet tendered by the Nelson Board of Trade.

A picture of the province's postwar plans for rehabilitation and construction was presented as the Premier "rendered an accounting of the government's policies and accomplishments since coalition in 1941."

"We are determined to plan for the welfare of the people and to develop our great natural resources in a manner that will create opportunities not only for our men and women returning from the services, but also for the younger generation of our province," he said.

More than 6,000 of British Columbia's fighting men, who previously had two years' experience in farming, had expressed a desire to return to the land, he said.

The end of the war would find B.C. ready to meet postwar conditions. The postwar bureau and the reports of the postwar rehabilitation council referred to it were regarded as the "most comprehensive of any compiled in Canada."

Barbara, Cary Grant On 2nd Honeymoon

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Barbara Hutton, the dime store heiress, and actor Cary Grant announced Monday they have become reconciled after a separation which began last August when he left their home.

A spokesman at the R.K.O. studio, where Grant is employed, said the two submitted the statement and then "ducked out of town," presumably for a second honeymoon. They were married July 9, 1942, at Lake Arrowhead, Calif.

Vancouver Surgeon Has New Technique

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Otto Demuth, Vancouver surgeon, left Monday for Philadelphia, where he will demonstrate before the International College of Surgeons a new technique in lung surgery.

Believed to be the first time in the history of lung surgery that such an operation has been performed, Dr. Demuth recently used living tissue as a ligature after removal of a portion of the lung of a Vancouver woman.

Dr. Demuth invented the instrument, which was used to bind the human tissues in lariat style around the edges where the lung was cut to remove an abscessed portion. The instrument looks like a long silver tube with a spindle at one end. The fresh tissue taken from the thigh is looped through the tube and attached to the spindle. By turning the spindle, the loop is tightened around the ends where the lung was cut.

Dr. Demuth said the advantage of fresh tissue is that it will decrease the chance of hemorrhage. He said he believed the new technique will mean a 90 per cent chance of success in an operation once considered dangerous.

Dr. Demuth's patient was a young mother who suffered from empyema, pus in the lungs from an abscess. She is recovering rapidly from the operation.

Tea, Coffee By Cup Still to Cost Dime

OTTAWA (CP) — The Prices Board has "no thoughts at the present time" of ordering restaurants to reduce the price of tea and coffee to five cents a cup, a board spokesman said.

The prices charged by restaurants were reviewed when the rationing of tea and coffee was lifted two weeks ago, and it was decided then that existing prices would be left unchanged, the spokesman said.

More than a year ago restaurants were allowed to increase the price of tea and coffee from five to 10 cents a cup. The board allowed the increase in an effort to help restaurants to meet the increased price they had to pay for vegetables and other foods.

"The circumstances which existed when the increase was allowed still existed when the rationing was lifted," the spokesman said.

Victoria Flier Evacuated Slavs

PO. D. DEEPROSE

OTTAWA (CP) — Among the Canadians in the R.A.F. transport crews who made hazardous supply flights to Marshaal Tito's lines in Yugoslavia was PO. Dick Ryerse of Port Dover, Ont., and among his exploits before he was reported missing recently was taking part in the evacuation of 900 wounded Partisans in a single day, an air force release said today.

On the trips to Tito's headquarters the airmen invariably landed in the dark, discharged their cargoes and took on board wounded Partisans to be flown back to hospitals in Italy.

Other Canadians in the group were PO. Robert Younger, Winnipeg; PO. Donald Deeprose, Victoria; PO. James Stubbs, Calgary; Sgt. Al Stitt, Moose Jaw; PO. Cyril Killick, New Westminster, and PO. Jack Morris, Regina.

PO. Deeprose is a son of the late F. H. Deeprose of Victoria. One brother, D. C. Deeprose lives at 3217 Bellvue Road; another, Geoffrey, also serving in the R.C.A.F.

Less Working Time Lost Through Strikes

OTTAWA (CP)—Time lost through strikes and lockouts during the first eight months of this year was 41 per cent lower than in the corresponding period of 1943, the Labor Department reports.

A total of 978,189 man-working days were lost up to Aug. 31, 1944, in 151 strikes involving 69,200 workers, against 822,045 days lost in 287 strikes involving 149,977 workers a year ago.

Ask Dominion Jobs For Returned Men

CALGARY (CP)—Alex Walker, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion, in a letter to Prime Minister King has called for reassurance that civil service positions are being kept open for war veterans.

Mr. Walker said the announced policy of the government was to make permanent in civil service posts only veterans entitled to preference and civilians who were appointed to the posts prior to the outbreak of war.

"There is a strong belief that the Civil Service Commission is being subjected to a great deal of pressure which, if not resisted with the full backing of the government, will result in a wholesale blanketing-in of civilian war personnel to permanent department establishments," Mr. Walker said.

Says Socialism's Drive Leads to Fascism

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP) — Solon Low, national leader of the Social Credit Association of Canada, told an audience here Monday night "that the drive for socialism over the world has now been pretty well established as the basic cause of fascism."

"Socialism, by undermining faith in democracy, paves the way for dictatorship from other sources," he said. "They (Socialists) create the political atmosphere or climate in which demagogues can rise to power.

"All our traditional freedoms—equality in law, parliamentary government, freedom of the press, freedom of speech and the freedom of church—are held up by the Socialists as enemies of the people and a good dictatorship is fostered."

Mr. Low said the C.C.F. in Canada was undermining the people's faith in democracy while the "true Communist is sitting back biding the time when the next step towards totalitarianism can be taken by him."

Canadian Describes Torture of Belgians

NEW YORK—A description of a German concentration camp at Breendonck in Belgium, where hundreds of Belgians and other members of the underground resistance were reported tortured and killed, was given Monday by Matthew Halton, CBC war correspondent.

Halton said in his account, broadcast by the BBC:

"Before being shot or hanged, each man and women had to build his or her own coffin. The bodies were taken into Brussels for cremation, before the victims were murdered, their clothes were taken from them, and these clothes, many of them still stained with blood, were carefully ticketed and put away on shelves in a depot. . . .

"The first torture chamber was a large cell where men were tied to the wall and shot at with wooden bullets to try to make them talk.

Sometimes the victims of the Gestapo were chained to the walls to be flogged. Each strand of the whip had a steel pellet at the end. . . .

"Ater being flogged, if he had not talked the prisoner's hands were tied behind his back and attached to a windlass in the ceiling. Then he was raised from the floor by his wrists and he hung there until his arm bones were wrenched out of the shoulder sockets.

"In that room there is a small stove where irons were heated. Prisoners were burned all over their bodies. They had their fingers broken joint by joint. They had their fingernails torn out."

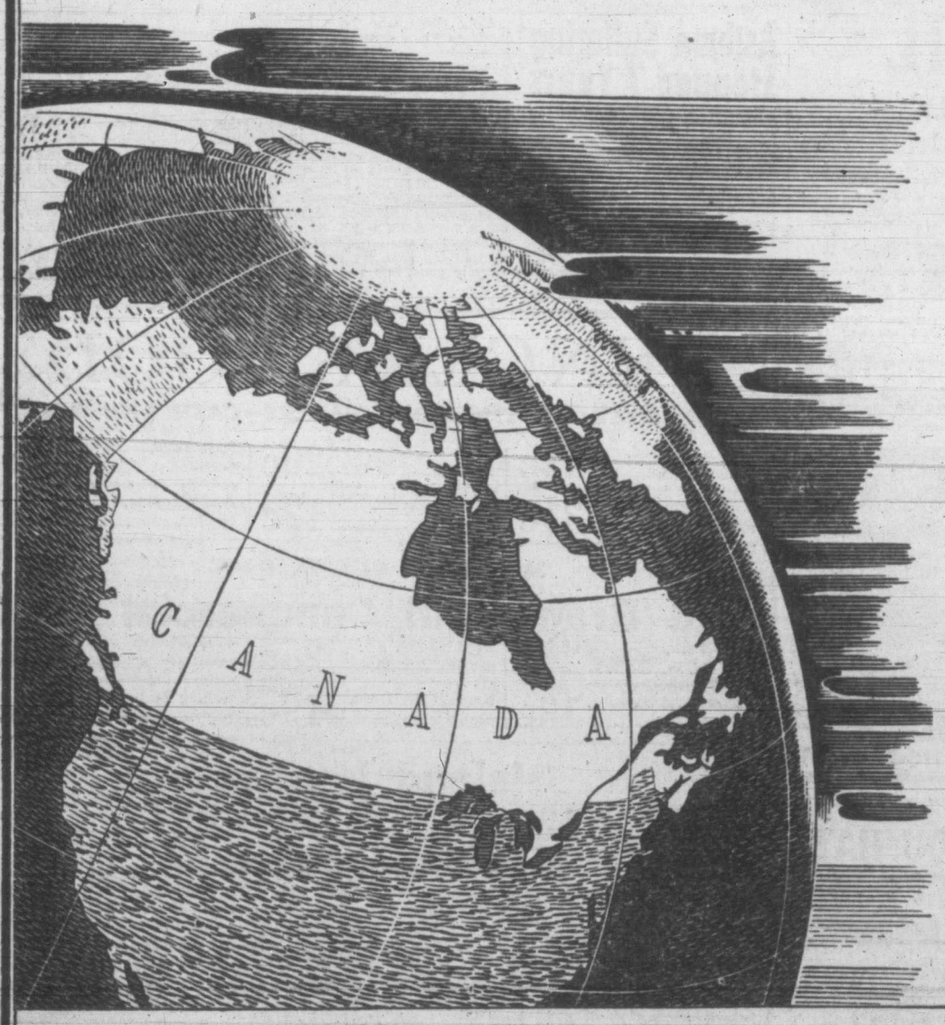
Postwar Land of Opportunity
WHERE
Electricity
PLUS VAST NATURAL RESOURCES CAN HELP PROVIDE MAXIMUM EMPLOYMENT



Canada, with its wide territories, favourable location, vast natural resources, and mighty reserves of hydro-electric power, can easily be developed into "a great postwar land of opportunity."

Fortunately, Canada is already electrically-conscious. Nowhere is so much electricity used per person. Today more than seven times as much electric energy is being produced in the Dominion as at the end of the last war. In 1943 our aluminum industry alone consumed enough electricity to supply all the electrified homes in Canada for 3 years.

Yet only one-fifth of Canada's water power resources has been harnessed. This power, increasingly applied to homes, factories, farms and mines, can raise the entire nation's standard of living.

But such development can only be achieved by PLANNING—today! While there must be no slackening of our war effort, we can still prepare ourselves for future action which will create markets and help ensure maximum employment. Planning will establish a firm, sound foundation for Canada's after-Victory prosperity.

For over 52 years it has been the privilege of Canadian General Electric to contribute much to home and industrial electrification. Today the Company's ten thousand skilled workers are devoting all their energies, all their enthusiasm, to war. Tomorrow they will resume their peacetime job of helping improve Canada's civilian economy — through electricity.

GEN. McNAUGHTON AND DIEPPE

SEVERAL HIGHLY-COMPETENT MILITARY men, as well as others who took part in the ambitious and dangerous venture, have repeatedly argued that the Canadian attack on Dieppe two years ago last August was a necessary undertaking. Some armchair critics and a few newspaper columnists have pontificated profusely on the fine points of the action, invariably reaching the conclusion that it was ill-timed, and that nothing discovered during the heat of the engagement could balance the regrettably high cost in human lives. In the House of Commons last year, Hon. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, explained that this raid was an undertaking to perform a vital part of the United Nations offensive strategy—"to obtain information which could be obtained only by fighting." This did not satisfy the lay strategist.

Now at long last has come a statement from General A. G. L. McNaughton, former chief of all the Canadian troops overseas, who is now in retirement. He explained in categorical terms in Ottawa yesterday that no operation in the history of warfare had been studied with such meticulous care as Dieppe; he doubted whether any other military operation had had a more profound influence on the future. The military authorities, the general pointed out, had drawn every possible lesson and advantage from the adventure; and without those lessons, succeeding combined operations would not have been supplied with the equipment necessary, or the inter-service co-operation so essential to victory. There is the plain statement of an expert who also speaks with the authority of one who helped to plan the raid, who knew of every move before it was made, and learned of the venture's value immediately on the return of the survivors.

Most people will appreciate and understand General McNaughton's version of Dieppe. It is well that he has delivered it. Many families who lost relatives on that August day more than two years ago have naturally been disturbed in their minds by recurrent discussions of various aspects of the operation. They will now understand how necessary it was for the Allied high command to know what Hitler had put into his much-vaunted Atlantic Wall, and that this information could be obtained "only by fighting." That this difficult and dangerous task should have been assigned mainly to Canadians is a distinction of which this country may be justly proud. The job was done; and a trifle more than two years later the men from the Land of the Maple Leaf returned to that once delightful French port under much happier auspices.

What the captious and amateurish critics of the Dieppe "incident" should now be asking themselves in the light of General McNaughton's statement is how would the Allies have fared in their invasion of north Africa, of Sicily, and the Italian mainland, had it not been for the "information" obtained by the valiant Canadians on the French shore. Finally, the lessons there learned were obviously responsible for the provision of the equipment and the "inter-service co-operation" that were so essential when the great assault on "Festung Europa" began last June 6. One can hope, therefore, that General McNaughton's version will put an end to uninformed debate about an event in Canadian military history which brought new lustre to Canada.

PAY TO HEAR WALLACE

ALTHOUGH HE IS NOT A CANDIDATE for any office, merely finishing out his term, Mr. Henry Wallace drew a capacity crowd to Madison Square Garden in New York the other night. But 22,000 people were not attracted by free drinks, free cigars, or any other substantial form of largess; they paid from 55 cents up to $2.40 to hear a reaffirmation of the vice-president's well-known liberal philosophy. Surely here was a turning point in the history of American politics. Then again, of course, Mr. Wallace's personal popularity may have had something to do with jamming the great arena; for it will not be seriously argued that the presence and performance of such notables as Sinclair Lewis, Serge Koussevitzky, Bette Davis, Fredric March and Orson Welles—jointly and severally—were the main magnet.

But whatever the reason why so many paid as much as they usually pay to see a hockey match or a circus, the fact remains that New Yorkers actually paid their money for the privilege of being told how wrong they were in case they favored Mr. Dewey, or of having their choice complimented and reaffirmed if they were solidly behind the President. In any event, such a turnout on a pay-as-you-enter basis, knowing the political program in advance, was a tribute to the American who called this the "Century of the Common Man." How Mr. Wallace is to be cast for the better promotion of his concept of what the social structure should be like after the war is on the knees of the gods. He has been called a dreamer, an impractical idealist, and other names; but nothing discourages him. Not all of those 22,000 Americans could be wrong.

'HE TALKED NONSENSE'

MOST INTELLIGENT PEOPLE WILL agree with the Vancouver Daily Province in its condemnation of some remarks of Mr. Edward P. Ryan of Spokane, who told a gathering of Kiwanians last week that Marshal Stalin was too busy "totalitarianizing Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Yugoslavia, Romania and the Dardanelles to take time to come to Quebec."

It would be presumptuous on our part to advise Mr. Ryan; but Spokane's "pride and joy," Mr. Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, might give his fellow townsman a few ideas about the Soviet Union leader's concept of Russia's role—in war and in the coming era of peace. "Not only were the speaker's remarks in the most wretched taste; not only were they against public policy in throwing insults at a friend and ally; they were flagrantly untrue," our contemporary properly reminds its readers. For Marshal Stalin was not engaged in enslaving nations; he did not come to Quebec because his main preoccupation was the liberation of those nations which had got caught in the meshes of Hitler's so-called new order.

In contrast with the outburst of Mr. Ryan, incidentally, are a sentence or two from the impressions gained at the recent Quebec conference by Mr. Roy W. Brown, editorial director of the Vancouver Sun, who said of that gathering:

"It was the inexorable determination of two of the most able and toughest citizens in the world to exterminate Nazism. If it takes 50 years of occupation of Germany, Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt are going to crush that jungle warfare. There is no question but that Stalin stands with them in this resolve."

We have no means of knowing how intimate Mr. Ryan is with the European scene, how familiar he is with the policies of the Soviet Union, how capable he is of reading Marshal Stalin's mind, or how his background furnishes him with such an air of certainty about the present and future policies of the Russian leader. Since a good deal of the business which engaged the attention of Mr. Churchill and Mr. Roosevelt at their recent meeting had to do with Japan—with whom Russia is officially at peace—Marshal Stalin's presence at the Quebec meeting may not have been judicious.

Anything said in the member states of the United Nations in criticism of our gallant Russian ally will be seized upon with avidity by the enemy's propagandists. They are using every conceivable dodge to drive a wedge between the two great English-speaking powers and the Soviet Union. Hitler knows that success in this field is his only hope of delaying his own and his country's punishment. But he is doomed to disappointment. And popular reaction in the United States to former Ambassador William C. Bullitt's recent blurb from Rome in Life magazine ought to suggest to the Ryans and the rest that they are out of step with public sentiment.

MERITED TRIBUTE

FORTUNE MAGAZINE PRESENTS AN article on Canada's civil servants, prepared by four of the magazine's editors who went to Ottawa to make a study of this country's government machinery. The article is illustrated with the pictures of Governor of the Bank of Canada Graham Towers, Deputy Minister of Finance Clifford Clark, Under-Secretary for External Affairs Norman Robertson and Chairman of Wartime Prices and Trade Board Donald Gordon. They are offered as typical of the quality of the upper strata of Canada's public servants, men whose talents are not surpassed in the government service of any country.

"No member of the United Nations," says the Fortune article, "has a corps of civil servants better qualified to administer the problems of peace, when it comes, than Canada. Canadian officials are less tradition-bound than their colleagues in Whitehall; they are not so deep in the melee of everyday politics as their counterparts in Washington. They know the United States and the United Kingdom better than the best American and British civil servants know any country except their own. Some were educated at California or Harvard, at Oxford or the London School of Economics. All are compelled, as men of affairs in a large country are not, to know and understand their neighbors. Ottawa is small; Canadian leaders meet often and easily to exchange ideas, achieving a co-ordination of policy that, to an American, seems little short of wonderful."

Those who are familiar with the service at Ottawa know that the foregoing is a well-merited tribute. Unfortunately, too few Canadians have occasion to realize from personal experience how well all of us are served by such men.

DEPLETION OF TIMBER LANDS

DEPLETION OF ACCESSIBLE TIMBER lands in the Dominion, caused by fire and insect destruction, is still alarming. It has been estimated that the loss of accessible resources in the period since the last war has cost Canada over $4,000,000,000. In addition to the damage from fire, the budworm has been ravaging large areas of valuable forest lands in eastern and central Canada. So far, very little headway has been made in fighting this pest. According to a recent statement issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, 30 per cent of the total value of timber lands in Canada during the last 10 years was lost in forest fires or through other destructive agencies. In addition, the heavy use of timber during the present war has tended further to deplete the forests which constitute one of the largest economic assets of the Dominion. The truth of the old adage again is borne out: It requires nearly a century to produce a big tree and a few minutes to destroy it.

Walter Lippmann

PROBLEMS OF GERMAN SETTLEMENT

WE HAVE NOT yet got to the bridge we shall have to cross in settling the economic position of Germany. We, that is to say the Allies, cannot make the long-range decisions until we have decided what economic measures are necessary to prevent the revival of German military power. This problem is now being discussed in all the Allied capitals, and opinion ranges widely between two poles. There are those who propose the destruction of German industrial power on the theory that only if the Germans cannot rearm can we make sure they will not rearm. At the opposite pole there are those who believe that a flourishing German economy should be restored, and that German rearmament should be prevented not by economic measures but by military force. Between these two poles of theory there are many proposals which lean one way or the other.

My own view is that the more objectively the problem is examined, the greater will be the tendency toward the second view—that is to say toward regarding the prevention of rearmament as calling primarily for military measures, and only incidentally for economic. In such a view we would forbid the making of any weapons and the training of any men in military formations, and we would destroy or remove any installations or tools exclusively designed for war. We would reserve the right to be the judges of what is a violation of this rule and to back up this prohibition by drastic penalties quickly applied. But just because civilian industry can be converted to war purposes, we would not attempt to destroy German civilian industry.

THE REASON for not destroying German civilian industry is that it is impossible to reduce the German people to an agricultural level. They would die of famine, or rather long before they died of famine, they would become a sullen festering mass of desperate human beings that no one could deal with.

The whole theory of destroying the German war potential by destroying German industry is a confusion of cause and effect. It assumes that people are warlike because they can make weapons, whereas in fact they make weapons because they wish to be or have to be warlike. We had in 1941 the greatest war potential in the world and we were just about as unwarlike as a big nation can be. The Japanese have a small war potential but they are a warrior nation.

Therefore our target in Germany should not be her civilian industries but her military system—that is to say the finished products for use in battle—weapons, an officers' corps, trained troops, planning staffs, mobilization plans and records, intelligence services. That is easier than trying to stop automobiles because they can transport troops or clothing factories because they can make uniforms.

THIS DOES NOT mean or imply that German civilian industry should not be controlled. Control and destruction are two quite different policies. German industry must be controlled, not so much to prevent war but for the purpose of making it serve the reconstruction of Europe.

How this is to be done cannot, however, be settled until the three big powers call France and the leading European nations into their councils.

TIME WITHOUT LUCE

The editors of Time Magazine (reduced to no bumbledom they) reported the last Republican convention in a way that must have made the Republican Party wish Time had drawn up the program instead of merely telling about it. In five pages of detailed summary by Time. Editor Henry R. Luce's wife, Representative Clare Boothe Luce, who proved to be a sadly off-keynote speaker at the convention, was mentioned not once.

With brutal foemen at the gate,
Imbued with bloodlust, greed and hate,
The Empire clung to ideals clear
Through years of blood, sweat, toil and tears;
Their heart beat high, their faith held bright
For love of Country, God and Right.

From farm and factory, hill and glen,
Their youth streamed forth, young girls, young men.
With Life behind and Death ahead
They faltered not; with martial tread
They took the path where honor lies,
Whilst Hell rained down from flaming skies.

By treacherous act and murderous deed
(Foul symbols of a tyrant creed)
Contempt was bred throughout a world
Where nations stood with flags unfurled;
They counted not the fearful cost,
With Freedom gone, all else was lost.

Then landward, seaward, skyward came,
Avenging host in Freedom's name;
With marshalled power and onward march
There rose again the Lighted Torch,
Carried on high by steadfast hands
Of Crusaders from many lands.

Anow, the web of doom is spun,
The despot's race is well-nigh run;
His vaunted power and boastful pride
Have now been bravely swept aside,
And once again the powers of Right
Have triumphed over brutish might.

For those young lives so freely given
To save a world with passions riven,
We, who are left, must humbly vow
That ne'er again shall Freedom bow
Before the curse of bestial War
The peacefulness of Life to mar.

L'ENVOI

Lord, God of Hosts, we ask of Thee
With prayerful heart, on bended knee,
That when the battle's roar shall cease
Grant to this earth Eternal Peace!
And to a war-torn human race
The blessings of Thy boundless grace.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The U.S. 1st Army's heavy and thus far successful attack in the Aachen sector may well be a preliminary to the all-out offensive for the German frontier defences, but a tough task lies ahead of the Allies and we shall do well to note Gen. Eisenhower's caution to correspondents Monday not to count too immediately on a break through the Siegfried Line.

As a matter of fact, it may not fall to the 1st Army to be the first to crash past Hitler's border defences. One would expect the Allied staff to stage a series of big attacks along the entire 460-mile front, and it may be the break will be made in some other sector.

The Westwall in the Aachen zone presents a formidable barrier, and the mighty Rhine may be even more difficult since that swiftly-moving river varies in width from a quarter to a third of a mile in the Cologne zone beyond Aachen.

Hitler has massed much strength in that strategic sector in anticipation of the attack which now has been launched.

The Allies have been racing against time to get set for the all-out push while the weather still holds good. Just what stage of preparation they have achieved isn't apparent, but the Germans certainly anticipate a swelling of the attack in the immediate future.

Hitler's troubles will multiply rapidly when the Allies launch big drives at other strategic points in the line, because he has no reserves to meet such commitments.

Thus while the Allies have a hard fight ahead of them, they actually have Hitler on toast, since ultimately he must give way to this pressure.

NEW STRATEGY

From San Francisco Chronicle

Berlin radio quoted reports from two German war correspondents that the Allied push in Normandy was irresistible, using strategy entirely new in the history of warfare and such as no German High Command or any other ever had to cope with.

There is nothing secret about it, for the radio went on with explanation that perpetual bombardment by land and naval artillery and constant air attack on communication lines prevents every effort to deploy, concentrate, or send up reinforcements and supplies by reasonably safe lines.

This means air control. It is not only the bombs from planes that count, but the inability of the enemy to interrupt land and sea fire that is poured on with a fury unprecedented. It means that the Luftwaffe that the Germans in Russia are told is busy in Normandy is nowhere it can be seen.

What the Allied Air Corps is doing is the modern equivalent of what cavalry raiders in hinterlands used to do to disrupt enemy supply and communication. It is the modern way as the Germans were going to do it. The weapons are new but the strategy is old.

THIS WAR FOUR YEARS AGO

Oct. 3, 1940 — British cabinet shuffled as Neville Chamberlain resigned as President of the Council of the cabinet because of ill-health. Former Premier Edouard Daladier, former Air Minister Guy La Chambre and General Gamelin formally committed for trial in France's "war guilt" case.

DRAFT DODGERS

From Ottawa Journal

Another young man has been sent to jail for failure to report to the Canadian authorities for military training as directed by Selective Service. He is one of a considerable number, not all of whom have been caught, who have refused to help to defend their own country—to say nothing of carrying the war to the enemy overseas.

One wonders at the mental processes of such persons. Presumably they like the personal freedom and the opportunities this country gives them, but they accept no responsibility for our national existence. They are without pride, it must be, and they have no patriotism, because the patriot who refuses to fight for his country is a poor creature unworthy of the name.

The draft-dodger, it would seem to us, is storing up for himself a collection of most unpleasant memories. When the victorious troops come home he will emerge from jail, or from his hiding place, in fear and shame. While others were carrying the torch he was skulking, shirking his duty, thinking only of his own precious skin. Canada was not built by such men.

FOLKWAYS OF PRIMITIVES

From St. Louis Post Dispatch

How long out of America, one wonders, is the Istanbul AP correspondent who wrote that a backwoods Turk whose wife bore him quintuplets "farmed out" three of them because "among primitive people, any departure from the norm is looked on with disfavor"?

Has he never tried to enter a hoity-toity night club in tweeds? Or a public swimming pool where it's bare tummies for the girls but tops are de rigueur for the men? And did he miss, in his exotic corner of the world, all the words written about what the Republicans did at their 1944 convention to that departer-from-the-norm who carried all their hopes in 1940?

TEN FACIAL OPERATIONS

W. L. Clarke in Windsor Star

Plastic surgery and bone grafting are becoming a fine art in this war. Men who have been badly wounded find they can get new faces. Capt. Donald Gordon, nephew of a A. St. Clair Gordon, M.P.P. for West Kent, has had 10 facial operations and expects to have one or two more. He was hit in the lower jaw by a sniper's bullet a year ago in Sicily. There have been some remarkable cases put on the record in this war. Men whose faces had been almost burned or blown beyond recognition have come from the surgeons with new faces and, so well has the work been done, even their friends do not realize the extent of the injuries.

"My LUMBAGO has entirely gone!"

Only those who have suffered from lumbago know how exceedingly painful it can be. And when they discover a remedy for this complaint, they are anxious to pass on the good news to other sufferers. Let this man tell you how he got relief from Kruschen.

"I had a bad attack of Lumbago. When I got into bed I had to stay in one position — I could not move for pain. I didn't know what to take or what to do. I was advised to try Kruschen Salts and I am very grateful I did now. After taking a few doses I felt relief, and after taking one large bottle, I am glad to say that my lumbago has entirely gone, and I have not had the slightest trace of it coming back."—G. A. V.

Kruschen is a combination of natural mineral salts which stimulate your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. Kruschen aids internal cleanliness and helps keep the blood-stream pure.

First Tuna Shipment

A 66,000 shipment of tuna was sent out by the B.C. Packers Ltd., Ogden Point, to Oregon Monday the first sent from Victoria, according to W. Ashby, manager of the packing plant.

The tuna fishing season is just about over for Canadian fishermen, said Mr. Ashby, who expects them to finish up this trip. Main reason, he thinks, is the bad weather, which is keeping the smaller Canadian vessels away from the tuna grounds lying off the Oregon and Washington coast.

However, the larger American vessels running out from U.S. ports are still getting fairly good hauls of tuna.

Salmon fishing is not too good at present, according to Mr. Ashby, but he expects fishing to pick up this week with the salmon season just started.

Oleomargarine, sometimes called bull-butter by cowmen, is prepared by treating a mixture of a vegetable oil and milk; cottonseed, coconut, soybean and other oils may be used; diacetyl enhances the butter-like flavor.

NEW METHOD Laundries G.8166 DOING A BIG JOB—WELL

Lieut. Mackie Christens Minelayer

Lieut. Margaret Mackie, W.R.C.N.S., immediately before the ship slid down the ways.

A BRITISH PORT — In a simple and brief ceremony at this tiny British shipbuilding town, the Royal Canadian Navy's first ship built specifically for mine-laying slid down the ways amid cheers from a handful of shipbuilders and representatives of the British and Canadian navies and the Women's Royal Canadian Naval Service.

A controlled mine-layer of the latest Admiralty design, the ship was christened H.M.C.S. Whitethroat by Lieut. Margaret Mackie of Victoria, unit officer for W.R.C.N.S. personnel in the United Kingdom. She was accompanied by Wrens Lorna Green of Vancouver and Norma Moffatt of Caledonia, Ont.

When completed, the new Canadian mine-layer will be used for the laying and maintenance of mine fields off Canada and Newfoundland, and will replace an old trawler now being used in those waters.

With a crew of 27 men, including three officers, the ship is the latest in design and carries the most modern and up to date equipment used by the Royal Navy in the dangerous and highly important job of laying minefields.

Another Victorian in the launching party was Lt.-Cmdr. A. R. Turnbull, R.C.N.

Tom Sawyer Held Over

David O. Selznick International presents "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," in technicolor, which is currently running at the Dominion Theatre.

America's favorite story — Mark Twain's greatest—is delightfully brought to the screen by the perfect cast you've always hoped for. Tom Sawyer's courtship of Betty Thatcher — murder in the graveyard—lost in the caves—all stirring Mississippi adventures live again in the production hailed as a really fine picture.

David O. Selznick, producer of many outstanding film productions, believes his greatest picture to be "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Among his successful productions in past years have been "Viva Villa," "Nothing Sacred," "David Copperfield," "Little Lord Fauntleroy," "A Tale of Two Cities," "A Star Is Born," "Anna Karenina," and "The Prisoner of Zenda."

Audiences which have seen this film pronounce it a memorable picture, and one that should be seen by adults and children alike.

"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer" has a superb cast led by Tom Kelly, and other artists supporting him are Jackie Moran, Walter Brennan, May Robson, Victor Jory, Nana Bryant and others.

ATLAS THEATRE

Seven of Hollywood's most gorgeous brunettes will be seen as Moroccan harem dancing girls in Paramount's "Road to Morocco," which is now at the Atlas Theatre, with Bing Crosby, Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour co-starred.

The girls were chosen from among several hundred aspiring applicants because they are all five feet five inches tall, weigh an average of 120 pounds, delightfully distributed so as to do right by the harem costumes designed for them.

These seven girls represent the best Hollywood can produce, and that's awfully good.

CAPITOL THEATRE

"Once Upon a Time," starring Cary Grant and featuring the lovely Janet Blair, is now running at the Capitol Theatre.

The story has to do with Grant's machinations as a Broadway show producer who has just had three costly flops and is about to lose his theatre to the sheriff. Then he discovers a dancing caterpillar and gets the idea to promote this eccentric lepidoptera as the only rug-cutter in the universe and thus get the money to pay off.

OAK BAY-PLAZA THEATRES

In Columbia's "Crime Doctor" series, Warner Baxter, the star, has joined a galaxy of other famous crime experts who have already been put on the screen by Columiba. There was Nero Wolf, Ellery Queen, Boston Blackie and the Lone Wolf. The second in this series of Baxter thrillers, "Crime Doctor's Strangest Case" is now playing at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

CADET THEATRE

Alfred Hitchcock's production of "Lifeboat," by John Steinbeck, is currently at the Cadet Theatre. The sensational 20th Century-Fox saga of six men and three women adrift in an open boat in mid-Atlantic, stars Tallulah Bankhead.

RIO THEATRE

Twentieth Century-Fox's stirring picturization of Richard Tregaskis' "Guadalcanal Diary," the action-packed story of the hard-fighting, wisecracking U.S. Marines who brought America its first taste of victory, is now at the Rio Theatre.

Heading the brilliant cast of the film are Preston Foster, Lloyd Nolan, William Bendix, Richard Conte and Anthony Quinn. The film was directed by Lewis Seiler and produced by Bryan Foy, with Islin Auster as associate producer.

Social Situations

The Situation: A woman telephones to suggest that her family and yours have a picnic meal in the country or in a park.

Wrong Way: Assume that since it is her idea, she will bring the food.

Right Way: Ask right away what food you should bring. (You should always assume that you will be expected to bring food to a family picnic. And it is easier for you to volunteer to bring your share than for the person planning the picnic to have to say, "What would you like to bring?")

Murder Hearing Adjourned 1 Week

Preliminary hearing of Mrs. Edith May Cruickshank on a murder charge in connection with the drowning-death of her seven-year-old daughter, Sept. 25, was set in city court today for next Tuesday.

Mrs. Cruickshank showed no emotion as she was led into the prisoner's box in the courtroom by Policewoman Alice Pye before a large court gallery composed mostly of women.

Stuart Henderson, veteran counsel in more than two score murder cases, announced he would represent Mrs. Cruickshank in the city court hearing. Prosecutor C. L. Harrison asked a day be set for the hearing, suggesting next Tuesday, when he said he wished to proceed.

Police allege Mrs. Cruickshank murdered her daughter by drowning her in the sea off Dallas Road, near the foot of Howe Street.

Urges B.C. Lumber Be Used in Canada

EDMONTON (CP)—Britain's lumber needs should be met, but so far as other export shipments are concerned, there should be some request to the federal government to see that all or nearly all of the British Columbia fir is not shipped out of Canada, H. C. Nicholls of Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Company, said here.

"We must see that Great Britain has what she needs, but I object if all or too much goes to the United States—she has lumber of her own," he told a meeting of the Edmonton Builders' Exchange.

Heading a large party of eastern construction and supply executives on a tour of western Canada, Mr. Nicholls and his group arrived from the coast. Speaking of his trip to B.C., Mr. Nicholls said he saw B.C. fir piled on docks at Vancouver ready for export, but he failed to see any for domestic use.

Esquimalt Supports Shipbuilders' Brief And Postwar Plans

If Victoria shipyards can build ships in wartime they can build them in peacetime, Reeve Thomas Hadfield told the Esquimalt Council Monday night, in asking council to go on record as supporting the recommendations, contained in the brief dealing with postwar shipbuilding and ship repairing, recently presented by the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association to the Prime Minister of Canada and members of the cabinet.

The brief was prepared in the interests of fostering shipbuilding in Canada in peacetime, and council supported it.

Nearly all coastwise boats come from the Old Country, the Reeve said, and added that some effort should be made to have them built here.

"It means a great deal to Canada. They tell us our frigates, freighters, anything we build are just as good as those built in the Old Country," the Reeve said. "It costs a little more to build here, but it costs more to live in Canada."

One councillor remarked that government subsidy would take care of the extra cost angle of the building question.

Following receipt of a letter from the Esquimalt Community Club on the subject of Hallowe'en bonfires, council members said they felt it inadvisable to have the annual bonfire on Hallowe'en night. Councillor J. A. Ellis suggested the municipality keep what bonfire materials it had in readiness for V-Day, believing that there were not sufficient materials for two occasions. There have been no bonfires since the inception of the blackout.

Plans for postwar municipal public works in Esquimalt, prepared by R. H. Stephens, will be forwarded to the Provincial Rehabilitation Council. Reeve Hadfield was appointed to represent Esquimalt on the Greater Victoria V-Day Thanksgiving Committee and Councillor D. A. MacLeod to represent Esquimalt at the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference's regional rehabilitation convention, to be held Oct. 14 and 15.

Offer of A. E. Ames & Co. to purchase $38,500 worth of Dominion of Canada 3 per cent bonds, now in Esquimalt sinking fund holdings, was accepted. The proceeds will be invested in the new bond issue and a small profit will be realized on the transaction, G. H. Pullen, municipal clerk, told council.

Councillor MacLeod told council of the recent Esquimalt auxiliary fire services competition, and stated that visiting Civil Defence officials were loud in their praise of the speed and efficiency of competing teams. A banquet followed the competition. Reeve Hadfield gave a report on the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention, held in Nelson. Letters of condolence will be sent to the families of the late H. Bishop, father of Councillor G. V. Bishop, and to the family of the late Edward Williams. Councillor J. P. A. Christensen moved the report of the reeve be received and filed and the latter thanked. Councillor Ellis, chairman of fire and lights committee, reported fittings for the new street lights on hand, and stated work would be proceeded with in the near future.

Dog License and Regulation By-law received final reading; Esquimalt High School Land and Dedication By-law, first and second; Smoke Nuisance By-law, first and second, and Tent By-law, first and second. Notice of motion of introduction at next regular meeting of a Sewer Loan and Unexpended Balance Disposal By-law and Architectural Design of Buildings By-law was given.

City Hall Wages Boosted $14,397

A total of $14,397 will be paid this year in wage increases to City Hall employees with implementation of the civic salary schedule by-law, D. A. Macdonald, comptroller-treasurer, informed the City Council Monday.

The increases will range from minor amounts to a maximum of $90 a month in one case, the new schedule disclosed.

"Owing to the rush of end-of-month work and the time required to calculate income tax deductions," said Mr. Macdonald, "I have not yet paid the adjustments of salaries, but this will be done at the earliest possible moment."

He reported adjustments had been made to compensate staff members who have left the service during the year. They will receive the benefit of the new schedule as from Jan. 1 to the date they left.

The City Hall Employees Association request for a 10 per cent increase in salaries, in line with the boosts given other departments, was referred to the finance committee for a report.

Cabinet Ministers Address Oak Bay Conservatives

BOB WOOTTON
. . . elected president.

Robert A. Wootton was unanimously elected president of Oak Bay District Progressive Conservative Association at the annual meeting Monday evening in St. Mary's Hall, succeeding Brig. J. Sutherland Brown, who had held the presidency 10 years and refused to run again, because he said the association must have new blood at its head.

Guest speakers were Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, B.C. leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, and Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Public Works and Municipal Affairs and M.L.A. for Oak Bay.

Maj. Keith MacDougall was elected first vice-president and W. M. Dawson second vice-president. Capt. L. S. Daynes was returned as secretary and J. Lytton Mara as treasurer. Delegates to the Greater Victoria Association will be Brig. Brown, G. A. Cameron, Mrs. Robert Harvey, Mr. Wootton and Capt. Daynes. The 23 persons attending the meeting were elected to the executive.

Accepting office, Mr. Wootton said "we must stick together and stand for our Conservative principles."

C.C.F. ATTITUDE

Mr. Maitland said the Conservative Party had always been a party which had striven to serve the people before the party. He contrasted this attitude with that of the C.C.F., which, he said, had said, in 1941, that it didn't care about the war, about recruiting, about the sale of war bonds, but only about bettering themselves, politically.

"It was the worst possible attitude of any body of people in the British Empire," he said, adding that while the coalition had carried on a business administration, the C.C.F. had carried on with an organization as strong as he had ever seen.

"The people of British Columbia have got to be educated and organized if the C.C.F. is going to be kept in its proper place in this province," the Attorney-General said. The C.C.F., he said, uses high pressure salesmanship, with not much logic, and does a tremendous amount of fanatical crusading, but is not very practical.

If the C.C.F. came to federal power, Mr. Maitland said, he is satisfied they will take away much of the present power of the provinces. He warned against this, for he said this province should never be run by a government 3,000 miles away for, he said, there are B.C. problems which Ottawa doesn't understand at all. If the C.C.F. ever attains power they will shackle the people of Canada, who will have to bend the knee before the party organization.

"It has now got down to our country or the false and terrible doctrines these people are preaching in B.C.," he said.

MR. ANSCOMB

Mr. Anscomb said Conservatives, in coalition, have not put aside the principles for which they stand, but are co-operating to give a business government at this time, and have blended their views with the Liberals in the interest of good government.

Postponement of the Dominion-Provincial conference, Mr. Anscomb said, means the B.C. government is placed at a disadvantage in not being able to feel its way adequately towards solution of postwar problems. The main postwar problem, he said, will be a decision as to what percentage of the income tax shall be returned to B.C. The present fixed sum of $12,500,000, he said, is not going to be enough, that B.C. should not be tied to that sum, that if it is there will be no possibility of development in this province.

B.C., he said, is getting its postwar road program well planned, survey parties are in the field, and all will be ready when a postwar emergency arises.

He referred to the suggestion that a toll road be built to link Victoria with Port Renfrew, and said "I'm not as old-fashioned as that—this government isn't going to start that sort of nonsense."

In Victoria, after the war, the minister said, a new government building will be necessary in order to centralize all the offices at present scattered over the city.

In setting aside $15,000,000 for postwar roads and buildings, Premier John Hart, "a very canny and careful man as far as finances are concerned," is preparing for any emergency, although that sum will not be nearly enough, Mr. Anscomb said.

Both Mr. Maitland and Mr. Anscomb thanked Brig. Brown for his services to the party, and the meeting passed a resolution of thanks to the retiring president.

Brig. Brown, in his presidential report, said "notwithstanding bad leadership in some quarters and lack of help and co-operation of nearly one-third of our population, the rest of the country is so sound and determined that Canada has made a truly great contribution to the war."

Speaking of the association's recommendation that all Japanese be sent to Japan after the war, he said "they are a social, economic and military menace. They are devoted to Japan — they are centrally controlled; the only way to have put them to a real test, which, thank God, is not possible now, would have been by a Japanese invasion of this coast. Then, the whole of the Japanese population in Canada would have taken an active part in helping the invading forces, and would have helped in the pillage, firing and raping of this province."

Capt. Daynes, in his report, said there had been a 20 per cent increase in Oak Bay Conservative membership, and that the young people and women are organizing, with beneficial results.

Gordon Head Airport Again Before Council

City Council Monday tabled until its next meeting recommendations from Ald. B. J. Gadsden's business and trade development committee covering proposed development of a municipal airport at Gordon Head.

Each alderman will be supplied with a copy of a report by W. Hilchie, representative of the western superintendent for civil aviation, regarding possibilities at that location.

"Apart from the possibility of finding a site cheaper to develop in the Colwood-Langford area . . ." said Mr. Hilchie's report in part, "the Gordon Head site is at once the most suitable and practicable one in the immediate vicinity of Victoria, having regard to the anticipated availability without cost to the city of a large portion of the land entailed."

The report continued with suggestions for surveys of property and study of weather conditions.

The committee resolution dealing with the issue sought sanction and co-operation from Saanich for establishment of an airport at Gordon Head. It also asked the city engineer's department to make contour surveys of property in the region at a cost not exceeding $1,000, and requested the Department of National Defence to make a year's reading of wind velocities and directions there.

Ald. Gadsden was appointed city representative in an unofficial capacity to the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference postwar rehabilitation conference here Oct. 14 and 15.

To permit further negotiations over renewal of a city-B.C. Electric agreement for use by the company of Goldstream water for hydro purposes, council authorized one month's extension of the present arrangement. The company declined to accept the city's terms for the water on the grounds the city had denied responsibility for possible future breakdowns in the penstock and allied equipment there.

S. M. Dimoline was appointed registrar of voters to list persons in various business establishments in the city.

Council received and filed a report from the finance committee outlining provisions of a Wartime Prices Board regulation whereby cities could seek application of enforced rental of houses left vacant while owners sought desirable sales.

Jubilee Hospital was granted $30,000 as this year's share of the city's contribution towards costs of the new maternity pavilion.

On finance committee recommendation, C. Hills and H. E. Hunt, members of streets maintenance and fire departments respectively, were listed for retirement and rehiring for the duration of the war at their present jobs.

Removal of boulevard trees from a section of Bay Street, on grounds they were damaging drains and sewers, and of an oak on Mt. Stephen Ave. were authorized.

Sewers and surface drains were ordered at a cost of $2,584 for the new Topaz subdivision adjacent to Glasgow Street.

Thirteen land sales were approved. They included a lot on north Ross for $150, one on west Douglas for $200, one on east Fifth for $200, one on west Scott for $50, others on the same street for $110, one on east Belmont for $75, the northwest corner of Pembroke and Cook for $400, lots on the south of Belmont for $300, on west Asquith for $100, four lots on the southwest corner of Summit and Quesnel for $350, one on the north of Haultain for $125, and one on west Avebury for $100. The city solicitor was instructed to present city claims against the Victoria Motor Boat and Repair Co. in bankruptcy.

Ald. J. A. Worthington's motion to renew city appeals, through W. C. Mainwaring, for a fire barge was endorsed.

After lengthy debate council instructed the water board to report, Wednesday on the Victoria and Island Gliding and Soaring Club's application for use of a strip on East Saanich Road, near Elk Lake, for gliding practice.

B.C. Shipyard Parley Here at End of Week

Shipyard workers of Victoria prepared this week for the first annual convention of the B.C. Shipyard Workers' General Federation, scheduled in the Boilermakers' Hall, Friday and Saturday.

Plans call for attendance of 35 delegates from Vancouver and Prince Rupert as well as 19 from Victoria.

Major discussion is expected on a resolution proposing to merge boilermakers and iron shipbuilders, machinists, fitters and helpers and dock and shipyard workers into one union. They are all C.C.L. groups.

Other resolutions submitted by the machinists seek establishment of a 40-hour week after the war; making the Dominion Labor Code, in amended form, a federal statute; formation of political action committees by affiliated locals, and payment of full wages by the Workmen's Compensation Board to workers laid off through injury.

Daily Siren Tests End

Victoria's eight air raid sirens, which daily since May, 1942, have sounded a short test blast at 2, will be heard now only on Wednesdays.

Feeling the daily tests were no longer necessary, civil defence officials have ordered a weekly test which will be held at the same time Wednesdays.

For more than two years Victorians have been reminded of the proximity of war by the daily blasts which were so regular many persons set their timepieces by them. Today was the first day they missed.

Hard-of-Hearing Club will be addressed Wednesday night at 8.15 by Mrs. Kenneth Barr of the Council of Social Agencies, on "Social Service," at the club rooms, 1416 Douglas Street.

AMAZING St. Louis Browns today rule as champions of the American League for the first time in 43 years of baseball history. Tomorrow Luke Sewell's boys tie up with Billy Southworth's Cardinals in the world series and although practically the entire sports world will be pulling for the Browns it looks like another Card triumph for baseball's greatest honors, or the first time in the history of the game two teams representing St. Louis battle it out for the world championship.

THE BROWNS' TRIUMPH enabled St. Louis to become the third city in the major leagues to hold a world series within its gates. Chicago and New York are the other two. In 1906, Chicago White Sox and Cubs clashed, with the White Sox winning the title. In 1921-22-23 and in 1936-37 the Yankees and Giants made it an all-New York fall classic.

THE BROWNS set two records Sunday as they achieved the league crown. They set up a mark by trimming the Yankees four in a row in one series and cracked another record by drawing a shirt-sleeved crowd of 37,815, an all-time high attendance figure for a St. Louis American League club at home. The Browns had little time for celebrating. Early Monday morning Sewell had his players at the ball park for a workout to keep them keyed to the edge they have held during their last home stand which saw them take 14 of 17 games. The big question on every fan's mind is which pitcher Sewell will choose to oppose the Cardinals in the first game. Observers are of the opinion that he will open with Nelson Potter, the club's leading pitcher with 19 victories and seven defeats. Southworth had refused (at the time of writing) to divulge his selection, but the chances are that he will be Morton Cooper. Although the Cards are favored in the betting, the Browns cannot be counted out because of their great courage and their ability to come back after one serious disappointment after another.

BY PLAYING their home-town rivals in the series the Browns will not reap any advantage from traveling. The series opens with the Cardinals as "home" club for the first, second and sixth games and the Browns as host club in all others. Play will continue daily until one of the teams has won four games. Sportsman's Park, one of the smallest in either major league, will accommodate only about 38,000 spectators, including standing room, thus the financial returns will be the smallest in years.

RAYMOND DUMONT'S latest baseball suggestion is an electric box score. Provided materials are available, Dumont will have a spacious board constructed by next August for his experimental grounds, the national semi-professional tournament in Wichita. Patterned after the telescore in bowling, the board will show the batting orders. As the official scorer records each play in the press box, it will be reproduced on the board. At the finish the fans will have a complete box score—times at bat, runs, hits, putouts, assists and errors.

THE PLAN isn't new, and only those who don't know baseball owners will wonder why it wasn't adopted long ago. The Federal League, especially Robert Ward of the Brooklyn club, toyed with the idea as far back as 1915, but it died with that ill-fated organization.

Organized baseball owners will not install electric box scores because they would mean the end of scorecard concessions. There would be no need for the spectator to keep his own score. He could see exactly what each batter had done as tallied by the official scorer.

Basketballers Hold Meeting Wednesday

Newark Takes Lead In Baseball Playoff

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Roy Zimmerman, Newark first baseman, tripled in the 11th inning Monday night, scoring Bill Rabe who had singled, then came home himself on a fly to centre field to defeat Baltimore Orioles 7 to 5 and enable the Bears to take a 3 to 2 lead in the International League play-off finals before 18,723 fans.

The sixth game will be played at Newark tonight, and if the Bears win they will meet Louisville Colonels in the little World Series.

Newark pulled seeming defeat out of the fire in the eighth inning when third baseman Mike Portner walloped a home run with two mates aboard to erase a 5 to 2 Baltimore lead and tie up the game at 5 to 5. Singles by Lew Flick and Joe Buzas set the stage for the big blow.

Grid Rules Take Panning

By FRED KERNER

TORONTO (CP) — They're warming up the sport pages these brisk autumn days with talk about — you guesed it — rules! A London Free Press sportscribe, who writes under the nom de plume Beejay, roasts the C.R.U. for showing a lack of broad-mindedness.

Monsieur Beejay goes so far as to suggest his fair city take the initiative and form a "new union with a new code." Claiming nothing is as thrilling as the runbacks of punts and kick-offs of the American brand of football, he lauds the Montreal Interscholastic Athletic Union for their introduction of U.S. rules.

Of the new high school rules in Montreal, Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll comments that most of the foot has been taken out of football. The teams are not punting for they found that under the new code they can make sustained downfield marches. Anyway, says Dink, our high schools are now playing the American game . . . where do they go from here?

THOSE WERE THE DAYS

A statement of expenses for an out-of-town game played by the Waterloo, senior, hockey club back in 1900 was unearthed a few days ago. It showed that a $5 bill took care of the needs of eight players on the squad. That includes staying overnight, with a little party thrown in.

Eight suppers totalled just $2 and beds for the night came to $1.25, with the bill for breakfast amounting to the same. The last item on the statement indicated the boys had a little pick-me-up after the game. It's listed as "one flask whisky," presumably for internal use, and the cost was —50 cents.

Then, again, at that price it was probably cheaper than liniment and might have been used to rub on aches and bruises.

Traveling costs? The team went to Preston by horse and sleigh, for Henry Ford was still a-dreamin' of his horseless carriage, and the cost was $4.25. Those were the days!

With Bill Durnan unavailable to Canadians, the gossip-shoppers are whispering the name of little Jerry McNeil, Montreal's senior Royals goalie last season. And a snappy puckstopper the lad is. . . . An Edmonton Journal scribe is certain that University of Alberta professor W. G. Hardy, who's prexy of the International Ice Hockey Association, will one day be N.H.L. boss. . . . Johnny Mitchell will be around again this winter with enticing offers to young Canadian pucksters, but not for Providence of the A.H.L. Johnny's with Pittsburgh Hornets now. . . . History repeats for Hamilton Wildcats. In the O.R.F.U. opener Cats trounced Toronto Indians 35 to 0, the identical score they won by over the same club in the 1943 opener. The felines think the omen is good.

SERVICES WORLD SERIES—Joe Gordon, who participated in five of last six world series, gets into real one—servicemen's world series—played before capacity crowds of 20,000 in Honolulu. New York Yankee luminary hit safely here for Army, but Navy obtained jump, winning first three games.

Judge Landis Will Not Attend Series

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis will be unable to attend the 1944 World Series because of illness, his office announced Monday.

"Because of illness, which, although not serious, forbids the commissioner to travel to St. Louis at this time, in the judgment of his physicians, the commissioner will be unable to attend the series," an office statement said.

Judge Landis designated Leslie M. O'Connor, his secretary, and William Harridge and Ford Frick, American and National League presidents, respectively, to act as his representatives at the series.

St. Kitts Win Eastern Boxla Battle Salmonbellies

TORONTO (CP)—St. Catharines Athletics gained the Canadian lacrosse final bracket last night by beating Mimico Mountaineers 9 to 8 to win their Ontario title series by four games to two.

The Athletics and New Westminster Salmonbellies will open the series for the Mann Cup and the Dominion title at Maple Leaf Gardens here Saturday evening.

In taking the sixth game of the Ontario final at nearby Mimico last night the Athletics had to come from behind, Mimico leading 7 to 4 at one stage of the third quarter. The Garden City club, however, fought back into the lead and held it to the close.

Both goalies, Bill Whittaker of St. Catharines, and Ray Mortimore of Mimico, starred in last night's fast, clean contest which saw only seven penalties, all minor, handed out.

Rugby Union Forms Second League

Victoria Rugby Union at its meeting Monday night made plans for a second league, but will not determine its category as intermediate A or senior until one of the clubs has made a decision on its position.

Following clubs are probable entries: Naval College A, R.C.A.F. and Victoria College A. First league game has been set for Oct. 14 between Naval College and Victoria College.

Saturday at Macdonald Park an exhibition game will be played between Naval College and the R.C.A.F., starting at 2.30.

Delegates to the meeting paid tribute to Lt. Cmdr. H. G. Davidson for his work as a coach and referee. Davidson will leave the city shortly.

Campbell Forbes was named coach of the Victoria McKechnie Cup squad with Roddy McInnes and Capt. Dick George appointed the selection committee.

Steve O'Neill Signs One-Year Contract

DETROIT (AP)—Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, announced Monday that Steve O'Neill, who led the Bengals to within one game of the American League pennant, has signed a one-year contract, his third, to manage the club in 1945. He succeeded Del Baker at the close of the 1942 season.

St. Louis Baseball Mad on Eve of World Series Opener

Series Briefs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — St. Louis Browns' stock has enjoyed a decided boom as the result of the club's first pennant winner in 43 years. Bids of $4.50 were offered in the market and one sale of 500 shares was reported yesterday at $4.75. The price was up $1.25 over last Saturday.

Manager Luke Sewell has steadfastly refused to name the Browns' starting pitcher in the series but he dropped a hint to assembled scribes when he said Nelson Potter is "quite a pitcher."

The Browns' winning percentage, .578, lowest in the history of the American League, was the exact figure by which the Cardinals won their pennant in 1926 also a record.

Gov. John W. Bricker, Republican vice-presidential nominee, arranged his St. Louis campaign speech to coincide with the first day of the world series. He'll see the ball game in the afternoon and attend to politics in the evening. Senator Harry Truman, Democratic nominee for the same office and a Missourian, also will see at least one game of the classic. He will speak at nearby Carruthersville, Mo., Saturday.

Bobby Scanlon, bat-boy for both the Cardinals and the Browns, showed mature wisdom when he decided he'd serve "the home team" in the series. . . . and he may collect a share of the swag from both clubs. The Browns already have voted him an unannounced cash award. The Cards will decide on their split today.

BUFFALO, N.Y. — St. Louis Browns have a "grand chance" to beat St. Louis Cardinals in the world series, if the Browns' hurlers deliver as they did in the last two weeks of the American League season, Joe McCarthy, New York Yankees' manager, said Monday.

McCarthy, resting at his nearby Ellicott Creek farm, declared in an interview, "Luke Sewell (Browns' manager) did a marvellous job, his judgment was excellent, his handling of pitchers couldn't have been better and he never lost his head" during the nip-and-tuck battle for the American League pennant.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Blocks of six reserved seats for the world series were available Monday at the fancy figure of from $125 to $150 but from scalpers only.

Both the Browns' and Cards' offices announced no more applications for reserved seats would be accepted, but 4,000 bleacher and 3,000 pavilion seats will go on sale at 8 the morning each game is played.

Los Angeles Ties Series; Deciding Battle Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tonight's baseball game between the Los Angeles Angels and the San Francisco Seals tells the tale in their Coast League play-off series.

The teams became tied at three games each when Los Angeles defeated San Francisco 2 to 1 in 10 innings last night. The regular 1944 pennant was won recently by the Angels for the second consecutive year.

The Angels, who lost three games in a row to the Seals in San Francisco, scored their third consecutive victory on home soil last night.

The game was marked by a red-hot southpaw pitching battle between the Angels' Ray Prim and the Seals' Will Werle, both of whom went the distance. Werle gave up nine hits, Prim 10. Each fanned nine.

Prim scored the winning run from second on Johnny Ostrowski's single to centre.

Bernie Uhalt tallied for the Seals in the first inning. Knocking a two-bagger, he was aided by Joe Futernick's bunt for a base hit and Gus Suhr's drive to left.

In the fifth the Angels' Rip Russel hit a single and came home on Ostrowski's triple. Ted Norbert flied out.

Cowboy Ray Harrell will hurl for San Francisco tonight against George (Pancho) Comellas.

Short score:

	R.	H.	E.
San Francisco	1	10	1
Los Angeles	2	9	2
(10 innings)

Batteries — Werle and Ogrodowski, Sprinz (8); Prim and Sarni.

SEATTLE (AP)—Bill Skiff, manager of Seattle Rainiers in the Pacific Coast League for the past four years, will return in 1945.

Morton Cooper And Nels Potter Mound Choices

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Twenty-five hungry Browns who never cashed a world series cheque and 22 Cardinals who've won three successive National League pennants today split this bulging city wide open on the eve of the first all-St. Louis world series.

Streetcar operators, bellhops and bartenders chewed your ear with retakes of Chet Laabs' two pennant-winning homers and Sig Jakucki was boomed for "mayor," but the boys who say it with cash made the National Leaguers 1-to-2 favorites for the four-of-seven series opening tomorrow at Sportsmans Park.

Rainy weather took away some of the enthusiasm yesterday as Billy Southworth and his boys came home for the first time since clinching the flag to be greeted only by their wives, children and ticket-hunting relatives. The town, however, buzzed with baseball talk and both clubs reported a complete sell-out of reserved seats. The mayor issued a proclamation designating this as "baseball week."

At least 35,000 fans are expected to turn out for the opener tomorrow with the weatherman promising "fair and cooler."

Luke Sewell had his Brownies out for a short drill between rain drops yesterday and planned a lengthy dress rehearsal this morning with the National Leaguers taking the field in the afternoon.

LIKELY PITCHERS

Neither manager has named his first-game starter but Mort Cooper (22-7) appears to be the natural for the Cardinals. Nelson Potter is the likely Brownie opener with his 19-7 record and his highly-trained screwball.

Consistently good pitching was the most important factor in the success of the Sewell crew all season and could be the turning point in this series, which will be played on an every-day basis with the only off day between the sixth and seventh games.

Southworth can call on lefty Max Lanier, Harry Breecheen and Ted Wilks to back up Cooper, but Lanier is a doubtful factor because of recent arm trouble. He is said to be ready, but only an actual start will give the answer.

Sewell can back up Potter with Jack Kramer, Denny Galehouse, Bob Moncrief and Jakuck, although Muncrief is also on the sore-arm list. The Browns' staff is in good physical condition despite the gruelling stretch drive.

The Red Birds will be the home team the first two games, the Brownies the next three and the Nationals again if it goes into a sixth and seventh tilt.

Southworth said the Brownies' victory had made no difference in the Cardinals' strategic plans for the series.

"The American League race was so close that we didn't do any planning against any particular team of batters," Southworth explained. "We know the Browns from having played them in spring series."

The Cards defeated the Browns four out of five games in the spring series, which offered no basis of comparison because both managers were trying out new players.

The Browns had not the services of Chet Laabs, Denny Galehouse, Mark Christman, Bob Moncrief or Mike Kreevich, all of whom joined the team later. Kreevich developed to be the steadiest outfielder and led the Browns in hitting with an average of .301. He is the teams' only .300 hitter.

"It will be just like any other series. We'll give them everything we have at all times and may the better team win."

Southworth was a bit downcast over the prospects of losing Danny Litwhiler, regular left fielder, in the series. Litwhiler recently was hit in the knee by a foul off his own bat.

World Series Split Decided By Browns

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Twenty-nine full shares, three half-shares and six cash awards were voted by St. Louis Browns in a club meeting Monday on the split-up of their world series pot. All the regular players, manager Luke Sewell, coaches Fred Hofmann and Zack Taylor, trainer Bob Bauman and secretary Charley Dewitt come for full shares.

Half-shares were voted to Steve Sundra, pitcher who left the club in the spring after winning two games; catches Tom Turner, who joined in mid-season, and Tom Hafey, outfielder who was with the Browns early in the season and was traded to Washington. Hafey, disappointed at being dropped by the St. Louis club, refused to report to the Senators and went to his home in California.

Cash awards, the amounts of which were not revealed, were given to pitcher Willis Hudlin, who joined the squad for the last month; Orville Paul, batting practice pitcher; Tommy Brammel, part-time trainer; John Hanley, clubhouse property custodian; Bob Scanlon, bat boy, and Darwin Zimmerman, Scanlon's assistant.

12 Ordered to Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — Chief Justice Farris has ordered Henrietta G. Bouer and 11 other shore residents whose property has been expropriated by the Dominion government to appear Friday in Supreme Court to show why they should not vacate immediately.

The order was obtained by G. L. Fraser. He stated notice was given the owners Aug. 17 that possession was required at once as work has already been started by B.C. Bridge & Dredge Co. on construction of buildings for naval stores and wharves.

The Crown has made no payment yet for the land it expropriated for this project in North Vancouver and the owners say they have no money to pay moving expenses, said Mr. Fraser.

Polygamy Charge Dismissed By Judge

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Judge M. J. Bronson Monday dismissed conspiracy charges against one of 32 "Fundamentalist" cult members accused of preaching and practicing polygamy, took under advisement a similar motion affecting two others but refused to release the remaining 29.

Freed from the charge was Oswald Brainich, one of 15 Salt Lake City men previously convicted of unlawful cohabitation. Bronson ruled state attorneys had failed to tie him in with the alleged conspiracy. He was sentenced to not to exceed five years imprisonment for the previous conviction but like the other 14 is free under bond pending an appeal.

In arguing for dismissal, defence attorneys contended no court "may pass upon the morality or immorality of any religious belief or dogma."

McNaughton Extols Value of Dieppe

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen A. G. L. McNaughton referred in an interview Monday to the Canadian landing at Dieppe in 1942 and said he doubted whether any other military operation had had a more profound influence on the future.

He said no operation in the history of warfare had been studied with such meticulous care as Dieppe. The military authorities had drawn every possible lesson and advantage from the big coastal raid. Without those lessons succeeding combined operations would not have been supplied the equipment necessary or the inter-service co-operation so essential to victory.

He said the solution for the prevention of future wars lay in the moral sphere. He thought the United Nations should not be vindictive in their treatment of the vanquished, but kindness must not overwhelm good judgment. "They must see to it that these nations are never again in the position to take us by the throat."

Japs May Evade Major Battle At Philippines

By HAMILTON W. FARON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Running far ahead of schedule, with early invasion of the Philippines likely, the Pacific war is nearing a showdown stage, but the end is not in sight.

Strategy adopted by the Japanese high command when U.S. forces land in the Philippines may indicate the future course of the war. Two possibilities stand out:

1. The Japanese may elect to throw major strength into an effort to retain those islands. They are rich in raw materials and also stand as a bulwark of defence for shipping lanes to other enemy-held supply sources to the south.

2. The enemy may conserve his machines of war and choose to fight a holding war.

SUPPLIES BUILT UP

Many observers believe firmly the second course is likely to be chosen. They point out Japan has had an opportunity in the last two years to pile vast quantities of supplies on stockpiles already huge before the war.

With those added quantities of materials and supplies of all kinds, it is probable Japan, even without addition of any new material whatsoever, could continue to wage effective warfare for many months, possibly years.

Those who feel the Japanese will follow a policy of drawing out the war to the bitter end—in hopes the people of the U.S. will tire of war and agree to a negotiated peace—cite also the cold statistics of supply.

As the victorious Allied forces drive the Japanese back from island to island, enemy supply lines become shorter and stronger. Conversely, Allied lines grow by thousands of miles, adding to the problems of movement of supplies and men.

When—and where — the big surface engagement long sought by U.S. naval men will be fought, depends also on the decision of the enemy command after the Philippine campaign opens. It could be that a naval battle will come there.

But, purely from the viewpoint of sound military judgment, it is considered more likely the fleet will be conserved for protection of the shortening supply lines and the drawing-out of the war. If that is done, the battered merchant fleet probably could be convoyed in sufficient strength along shorter lines, to keep the enemy war machine running.

ITALIAN ORPHAN BOY BECAME MASTER OF PAINTING ART

Of the artists in history, no other has won so much fame in such a short life as Raphael. Indeed there are some who would place him first among all artists, whatever the length of their lives.

Raphael was born on April 6, 1483. His family name was Sanzio, and we might speak of him as "Raphael Sanzio," but he is best known by his first name.

When he was only eight years

RAPHAEL

old, Raphael lost his mother, and three years later his father died. Thus he was an orphan at the age of 11, but he was cared for by his stepmother and by an uncle.

Raphael's boyhood was spent in Urbino, a small Italian city 18 miles from the Adriatic sea. This town was freed by the Allies several weeks ago, during the march toward Rimini. When he was about 16, he started to study under Perugino, an artist in Perugio. This artist was making wall paintings for a bankers' meeting hall and for churches. The youth from Urbino became his favorite pupil.

Raphael admired his master, and in some of his later paintings followed Perugino's style. When he was 20 years old, he worked on church paintings of his own.

In 1504 Raphael visited the city of Florence for the first time. There he did a great deal of painting. Florence was a centre of art, and the young artist always was on the lookout for masters who could teach him something new.

It was in Rome that Raphael came to the full flood of his fame. He was employed by Pope Julius II to decorate walls and ceilings in rooms of the Vatican. A later pope, Leo X, also made use of his genius.

From his early youth until the time of his death, Raphael was fond of painting "Madonnas." Among his paintings in this field are, the Madonna of the Chair and the Sistine Madonna.

The sistine Madonna is the most famous of Raphael's paintings. It was made as an altarpiece for the Church of St. Sixtus.

Paintings by Raphael have been bought and transferred to London, Paris, New York and other cities. The Sistine Madonna was abtained many years ago by an art gallery in Dresden, Germany.

Raphael died of a fever on his 37th birthday.

Apples Highlight Today's Market

Apples—four grades of McIntosh Reds from the Okanagan and several varieties of locally-grown apples are highlighting the marketplace these crisp October mornings.

Demand as yet is only fair, according to one Yates Street wholesaler but quality is good and the apples are available in quantity. Shipments of Extra Fancy, Fancy, C Grade and Combination Fancy and C Grade are arriving every three or four days from the Okanagan, and local apples on hand include: Wealthies, Gravensteins, Kings and Alexanders.

The orange supply is good at the moment but the season is gradually drawing to a close in California, and a shortage of oranges during November is anticipated, the wholesaler said. A carload of lemons arrived Monday to relieve the shortage felt last week.

New season California, Florida and Texas grapefruit is expected to put in an appearance about the end of October but wholesalers have considerable quantities of their last shipments still available, and hope to bridge the gap between the old and new season crop without any great shortage.

A fair demand for Okanagan crabapples and an excellent demand for California grapes, half a carload of which arrived down wholesale row today, is reported. Another week will see the end of the Bartlett pears according to the wholesaler and Italian prunes are on the wane.

Highlighting the vegetable scene are the Okanagan No. 1 Yellow Onions which took a drop in price recently and are now selling below the ceiling. Plentiful supplies in both Canada and the United States are responsible for the drop according to the wholesaler.

Second crop local hothouse tomatoes are coming in but there are still quantities of local field available, he said.

100,000 Gallons Of Rum Held in B.C. Increase in Value

B.C.'s stored Demerara rum could be taken out monthly and sold, but liquor commissioner W. F. Kennedy believes it good business to keep it in the warehouses and buy rum on the open market.

There are 100,000 gallons of this rum owned by the Liquor Board in New Westminster and the West Indies—about 600,000 bottles in all, worth more than $2,500,000.

When federal restrictions were clamped down the rum was in bond for the Liquor Control Board. Mr. Kennedy, however, left it there, and bought as much rum as he could elsewhere.

The carrying charges for keeping that rum in storage are nothing compared to the increased value of the liquor, which grows in richness each year. It is stored in wood and the older it becomes the more valuable it grows. At $5 a bottle it would be worth today $3,000,000. In a few years it will be worth $8 a bottle.

The 600,000 bottles would be more than sufficient to meet public demand for a month, even though every liquor store customer took spirits instead of beer, Mr. Kennedy said.

ALL PROVINCES SAME

OTTAWA (CP)—Every province has large stocks of liquor in bond, it was disclosed here today by an official of the federal excise department.

Commenting on a dispatch that the B.C. Liquor Control Board owns 100,00 gallons of Demerara rum which is unavailable because of federal restrictions, the official said that every province is in "a similar situation."

"All the provinces have quite a big stock of liquor on hand—perhaps epough to slightly increase their monthly rations—but there is no indication that the order will be lifted in the near future," the official added.

Women's Institutes Confer Here Today

SOUTH V.I. INSTITUTE

"A home economics fund to help a country girl who is anxious to take this course at the University of British Columbia, and who, through financial reasons, is not able to put herself through, will be started as soon as possible in the new year," said Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, superintendent of Women's Institutes, when she addressed the South Vancouver Island District Women's Institutes' conference which opened this morning in the S.O.E. Hall.

Mrs. MacLachlan remarked on the progress of the different districts after listening to the reports given by the various delegates. She told of the 181 institutes in the province and said the membership has almost reached the 4,000 mark. "All these members are doing much the same work," she said, "and the biggest one is the war effort." Our objective is $10,000 and we have now reached $8,000." Mrs. McLachlan said the interest of other funds is being used to aid a boy who was unable to get into the Queen Alexandra Solarium or the Crippled Children's Hospital in Vancouver.

Mayor Andrew McGavin gave an address of welcome to the many delegates, and Dean Spencer H. Elliott said the opening prayer.

Mrs. W. P. Rankin, president, was in the chair. Following the institute reports and discussion of resolutions, luncheon was held in Terry's rose room, where two delegates from each district were guests.

Wife Meets Wounded Husband

L.Cpl. Jerrold Fred Cain, back from the maelstrom of France, where he was wounded by bullets and shrapnel in the left leg late in June, temporarily dispenses with his crutches to embrace his pretty wife, Anne. He was among a group of repatriated men arriving on the coast by hospital train during the week-end.

Jerrold was with the 1st Bn. Canadian Scottish landing on the Normandy beaches on D-Day. When his landing barge hit the beach three others with him were killed by enemy fire from shore. He plunged in and swam ashore. But he got hit three weeks later in the fighting around Caen, when three machie-gun bullets and shrapnel fragments pierced his leg, putting him out of action. Two operations were necessary during hospitalization. He arrived home with his leg in a cast.

A brother, Sgt. Joseph Roy Cain, who was wounded in the Normandy drive July 4, is back with his unit fighting overseas.

Jerrold's wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Atkinson, 1255 Rudlin. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cain, reside at 102 Niagara. The wounded soldier and his wife will make their home at 1121 View.

Lost Leg in War, Thinks He's Lucky

"He was so cheerful; his spirit is wonderful," said Mrs. Alex Grant, 2317 Blanshard, speaking of Pte. George Murtagh, 34, P.P.C.L.I., veteran of Sicily and Italy, who lost his right leg in the drive on the Hitler Line. Mrs. Grant (no relative) mothered Murtagh when he was working as a steward on Canadian Pacific coastal boats out of Victoria before the war. She went over to Vancouver to meet him. He is remaining in Shaughnessy Military Hospital for treatment, and will probably be there for some time. "I consider I'm lucky," said Murtagh, as he was taken off the hospital train on a stretcher. He was wounded in a mine explosion last May, and crawled for some distance on his stomach to the lines. He received other wounds in his left leg and shoulder. Some doubt existed as to whether the left leg could be saved.

Barbers Must Cover All Upper Clothing

Barber shop regulations have been amended by the cabinet, sitting as the Provincial Board of Health, making it compulsory for all barbers, apprentices or students to wear "a coat of a washable white material, covering all clothing from the hips up, which shall be kept clean to the satisfaction of the sanitary inspector."

There have been complaints that some barbers wear coats with elbow-length sleeves, permitting their shirt sleeves to remain down to the wrists.

The amendment regulations also cover barber chairs in pool halls. The new rule says a pool table, in the interest of ventilation, shall not be less than 10 feet from the barber chair.

The Barbers' Association recommended these changes.

In city court today eight motorists paid $35 in traffic and parking fines.

Some Cathedral Grove Trees Will Have To Go, Public Told

Some of the trees in Cathedral Grove, even when the government acquires it to preserve as a scenic asset, will have to come down, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Public Works, warned in a talk to the annual meeting of Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association, Monday evening.

Premier Hart, the minister said, is now endeavoring to make a satisfactory deal whereby Cathedral Grove will be turned over to the government and preserved for the benefit and enjoyment of the people.

Many of the trees, however, have become rotten and are commencing to totter and will have to come down, for the safety of other trees and the safety of the public, he said, adding that every time a tree is cut down someone is sure to phone the Parliament Buildings in vigorous protest.

Premier Hart, two weeks ago, personally visited Cathedral Grove, and one of the first things on his agenda when he returns next week from a tour of the interior will be to continue negotiations with H. R. MacMillan interests, which own the magnificent stand of timber, but which they are believed willing to trade for government owned timber elsewhere on the island.

Tourist Committee Requests Veterans In Tourist Trade

National Tourist Advisory Committee, at its meeting last week in Windsor, Ont., decided to ask the Dominion government, in its rehabilitation plans for soldiers, to provide them with some training fitting them to enter Canada's growing tourist trade, it was reported here today by Hon. E. C. Carson, Minister of Trade and Industry, under which comes the B.C. Government Travel Bureau.

The resolution, submitted by B.C., asks Ottawa to accept the principle of the tourist trade as a basic Canadian industry. It asks Ottawa to extend financial aids to veterans to assist them in establishing themselves in a proprietary way; proper education so that veterans may become park wardens, game wardens, fire rangers, fishing and hunting guides, fish hatchery work, travel information clerks, hotel and resort housekeepers, waitresses, chefs, clerks, outfitters' personnel, sports, recreational and physical culture directors, life-saving guards and reforestation personnel.

B.C.'s delegation to the convention was composed of Mr. Carson, his deputy, E. G. Rowebottom, who was chairman of the resolutions committee; George I. Warren, Victoria and Island publicity commissioner; R. Rowe Holland, chairman, Vancouver Parks Board, and M. Leo Sweeney, president, Vancouver Tourist Association.

The convention decided to ask Ottawa to greatly enlarge and increase holiday facilities in the national parks of Canada, and to establish new national parks as suitable areas become available.

Ottawa is being asked by the tourist committee to contribute $750,000 to the Canadian Government Travel Bureau, headed by Leo Dolan, for the first postwar year, so that Canada's tourist program may get a good start.

New Music Course At Night School

Victoria's night school, which annually caters to the vocational and cultural tastes of the city, this year enters a new field with a course on choral music. Registrations for that study will be accepted tonight at the High School as the classes in the majority of subjects open.

The schedule calls for a short history of choral music in conjunction with the works to be studied. This will be done by the use of records and also by the class participating in singing the music which is presented.

Provided 30 or more register the course will be given by Ernest Willoughby, organist and choirmaster at Christ Church Cathedral. It will be of particular interest to those who have had some experience in singing but have not been able to retain affiliations with choral groups in the city.

Mr. Willoughby comes to the night school with an enviable reputation in choral work. For many years he was choirmaster, accompanist and assistant conductor of outstanding English choirs, has wide knowledge of folk songs, Gilbert and Sullivan operas and other music of a nature suitable for study in the course. On this continent he has directed music for the Bryn Mawr College Quadrennial May Day Festival in which over 700 students participated.

Registrations both for the music and other varied courses offered in this year's syllabus will be accepted at the centres were the classes will be held. Those intending to enroll for any subject are advised to list their names on the opening evening.

Says U.S. Aid Given Chinese 'Not Lavish'

CHUNGKING (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill's recent use of the term "lavish" to escribe U.S. help to China drew an editorial protest in the Chinese press today. Ta Kung Pao, China's most influential newspaper, said the world should realize Britain and the United States were not entirely free from responsibility, at least morally, for China's military weakness, and that U.S. lend-lease help to China amounted only to 1 or 2 per cent of the total given the Allies.

A great development project in Palestine proposes to use the waters of the Jordan river for electric power and sufficient irrigation to support two or three times the present population of the country.

One result of the flooding with sea water of great areas in Holland by the Nazi to hinder invasion by the Allies is to decrease further the already limited food supply.

Community Chest Still Needs $21,702

During the past year the Children's Aid Society, one of the member agencies of the Community Chest, supervised 660 neglected children in Greater Victoria, either in their own or foster homes.

In order to carry on this work $15,000 is needed, and the Community Chest, which looks after 21 agenciees in Victoria, is still $21,702 short of its $90,000 objective, $6,000 more than the entire year's budget for the Children's Aid.

Today a foster home was being sought by Children's Aid case workers for two small children whom it had been necessary to remove from their own home because of neglect. One was found, but the foster mother had to go to hospital because of sudden illness, and up to noon efforts to get another home were still unsuccessful.

Expenses for this work are cut to the bone, but when it is considered that 45,294 days of care in foster homes for neglected children were provided in Victoria last year, the need for funds becomes more imperative. Only out-of-pocket expenses for food and clothing are provided the foster mothers of the children, it was explained.

A neglected child, according to definition, is one who because of illness, physical or moral neglect, cannot be safely left in its own home. Children's Aid officials have found that in the prosperous times of the war years there are more neglected and delinquent children than during the depression period. With both father and mother working, or with father overseas and mother ill, the children are in greater need of the help of welfare agencies.

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Mitchell F. Hepburn, Independent Liberal member of the Ontario Legislature for Elgin, today broke an almost year-long political silence with a 600-word statement in which he attacked Premier Drew's Progressive Conservative government and asserted his willingness "to take my place in the ranks of reform Liberalism . . . whether it be in the provincial or federal field."

The former Ontario Liberal Premier also said in an interview that next Tuesday he will attend his first caucus of Liberal members of the Legislature since the provincial election of Aug., 1943.

Hunter Who Was Lost Recovers in Hospital

THE PAS, Man. (CP)—Suffering from cold, three members of a hunting party were back in safety today after being lost for three days in the Root Lake district, 18 miles northeast of here.

They disappeared Friday after a blizzard had swept the district. Details of the rescue were not available.

One of the hunters, Norman Atkinson of Ninette, Man., was in hospital here, with swollen feet. The others, Charles Russett and Thelma Ewing, both of Flin Flon, were back in camp.

Companions said the trio disappeared while searching for firewood. They were carrying an axe and a gun. They existed through their ordeal on wild ducks, roasted over a fire of twigs.

2 Sailors, Paratrooper Arrested; Beat Zombie

EDMONTON (CP)—Two Royal Canadian Navy sailors, home on leave from Halifax, and a paratrooper were arrested by city police Monday on assault charges. Police said the trio had assaulted a member of Canada's home defence forces quartered at the Prince of Wales Armory here.

The home defence soldier told police he was accosted by the two sailors, who called him a "Zombie," and that he was beaten up.

Gas-Loaded Tug At Nanaimo Burns

NANAIMO (CP) — The tug Wasp, loaded with 300 gallons of gasoline, was destroyed in an early morning fire here today. The loss is estimated at $30,000. According to fire officials, the tug, owned by the Nanaimo Towing Company, was docked when fire broke out. No one was aboard at the time. Fearing the gasoline would explode and cause a serious waterfront conflagration, firemen cut the vessel loose and played streams of water on it, driving it into the harbor itself. It reached a current and floated with the tide until it grounded on the shore of Protection Island.

The 25,160,000 cows on the nation's farms averaged about 2,200 quarts of milk in 1942.

IN MEMORIAM

RAY—In loving memory of Alberta Ray, who passed away Oct. 2, 1943.

The years may wipe out many things,
But this they'll wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
We think of her in silence,
Her name we often recall,
But there's nothing left to answer
But her picture on the wall.
Just when her life was brightest,
Just when her hopes were best,
God called her from among us
To a home of eternal rest.

—Ever remembered by her loving husband, daughters and relatives and friends.

IN MEMORIAM

Victoria Boy Heads U.B.C. Players' Club; Sorority Rush On

Vancouver (Special) Ted English, son of H. O. English, principal of Victoria Normal School, and Mrs. English, 2832 Dewdney Avenue, Oak Bay, has been elected president of the Players' Club at the University of B.C.

Players Club, which has a reputation for successful productions and provides much entertainment for the students, plans an active year in dramatics and led off last week with a play, "Her Serviceman's Lover," an epic of Varsity life. It was given at the Frosh Reception in Brock Hall, which was attended by President and Mrs. Norman MacKenzie and about 1,200 students. Music for the dancing was provided by Dal Richards' orchestra and the "little sisters" were shown the rounds by their "big sisters."

Many Victoria girls who are spending their first year at U.B.C. are having the thrill of being "rushed" for sororities. Five teas were held last week and three are being held this week, finishing up with that of Kappa Kappa Gamma tomorrow. The closed parties will begin Oct. 10.

President MacKenzie spoke to the Social Problems Club on "University in the Postwar World." He said the number of returned men entering U.B.C. after the war would be considerable and he expressed the hope that "every returned man who wants to attend university would be guaranteed the opportunity."

"Everyone should get all the education they are competent to acquire," he said. "The more education for the more people, the better."

Dr. MacKenzie pointed out that competing with the old methods of education, the home, church and school, there was the radio, films, comic strips, graphic arts, cheap current literature and to a certain extent the ordinary orthodox press. In other words Dr. MacKenzie believed in this respect, that "education begins with birth."

"We have been incredibly successful in dealing with problems of the physical world, but we have been incredibly poor in dealing with the business of human relationships, as near chaos as possible," he said.

"The University should be active in the field of achieving breadth of outlook, flexibility of mind, tolerance and discrimination."

Dr. MacKenzie is showing a particular interest in the Returned Men's Association and told the assembly that he had been president of a similar club after the last war, called the "Has Been" club.

The first services parade for men students was held Saturday when they appeared in their newly issued uniforms of the army, navy or air force.

The Ubyssey, four-page varsity newspaper, is this year increasing its number of issues from two a week to three. It appears Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Plan to Utilize Water of Columbia Basin Being Sought

OTTAWA (CP)—A plan for widest practicable use of the waters of the Columbia basin was an announced objective of the International Joint Commission at the opening of a two-day semi-annual session here today.

The governments of the United States and Canada had requested the commission to undertake the study, Jesse B. Ellis, secretary of the U.S. section, said in a statement.

The Columbia watershed extends from the province of British Columbia through the states of Washington, Idaho, Montana and Oregon and cuts a corner of two other states.

"In its consideration of the problems involved," Ellis said "the commission will have to take into account not only the individual value of any particular project, whether of waterpower development, reclamation of land for agriculture, or other uses of the waters of the Columbia, but also to balance the importance of one use to others and to take into account not only the interests of the two countries as a whole but also those of the states and the province."

In waterpower alone, Ellis said, the amount capable of development of the Columbia and its tributaries is at least as great as the total waterpower now in use in all of North America.

More personnel of the Royal Canadian Navy who took part in D-Day operations and who played a leading role in the Allied invasion of the Normandy beaches are back in Canada. The men, crew members of the Canadian destroyer Kootenay, reached an eastern Canadian port recently revealing exciting experiences during their operations overseas. They proceeded to their homes on furlough. Here are some of the B.C. ratings who served aboard Kootenay. Left to right, front row: PO. Stewd. Gordon Osborne, Victoria; CPO. Robert Turner, Esquimalt; CPO. Edward DeCosta, Victoria, and Ldg. Smn. Bill Exley, Victoria. Back row: AB. Edward Randall, Nanaimo; SPO. James Hay, Esquimalt; Ldg. Smn. Tpr. Alan Ferguson, whose wife and four-year-old daughter, Deanna, live at Deep Cove, suffered a fractured left kneecap and bomb fragments in the face and right knee, in action on the Italian front Sept. 4 with the 9th Armored Regiment. He is now recovering in hospital.

Earlier in action in Italy, Ferguson risked his life to remove his wounded commander from a burning tank which had been struck by an 88-mm. shell. Although others in the tank fell when it was ignited, Ferguson managed to remove Lieut. N. C. Taylor, Kelowna, just before the tank blew up.

Cpl. Douglas Ferguson, with a provost corps in England, and Pte. Donald Ferguson, with the army in eastern Canada, are brothers. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson, also live at Deep Cove.

Gnr. Alastair MacLeod, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. John MacLeod, 1417 Taunton, has been wounded in the right leg while serving with the 13th Field Regiment in Europe, his parents have been advised. He has been overseas three and a half years. A brother, Pte. Donald Ian MacLeod, 24, died Aug. 3 as the result of leg and chest wounds sustained in action in France.

Toronto Day Shift Packers Vote Strike

TORONTO (C)—A vote taken at the Canada Packers plant here Monday resulted in a 727 to 3 vote in favor of a strike, Fred Dowling, Canadian director of the United Packing House Workers of America (C.I.O.) said today. That vote was taken by the day shift and the night shift crew are to vote tonight along with workers at the Swift Co. plant.

Mr. Dowling said the strike vote does not necessarily mean a general walkout. "We simply want to show the National Labor Board where we stand on the issue," he said.

Waskesiu Sailors Come Home

—R.C.N. Photo.

Another contingent of R.C.N. personnel who took part in the Allied invasion of Normandy arrived in Canada recently when members of the crew of H.M.C.S. Waskesiu reached an eastern Canadian port. The Yarrows-built frigate, which sank an enemy submarine on her maiden voyage overseas took part in D-Day operations, screening invasion craft onto beaches. Here are Victoria ratings who served aboard Waskesiu. Left to right, front row: Ldg. Smn. Arthur Burton, Ldg. Ck. Thomas McArthur. Back row: SA. Bernard Delamere, and CSPO. William Gandie.

Mother Greets Son

Gnr. George M. Haslam, R.C.A., who suffered a punctured ear drum when a gun he was operating exploded, happily reunited with his mother, Mrs. Mary Haslam, 2309 Quadra Street. George came back home this week after more than three years' service overseas. He left his wife, the former Katherine Coffey of Manchester, Eng., over there, but expects her to rejoin him as soon as transportation can be arranged. "Boy, am I ever glad to be back," exclaimed George following his arrival here. He got his left ear injury during training in Wales, but it was not until he reached Italy at the end of October last year that he was categoried and sent back to England. He has since been with an artillery holding unit on the south coast of England. George went overseas early in 1941 with an R.C.A. reinforcement unit.

Ottawa Testing Rubber Plant Grown at Vancouver

OTTAWA (CP) — Agriculture department officials said today experimenal work is being conducted on a native British Columbia plant known as lactuca biennis, as a possible source of rubber, but it has not yet been determined that it has commercial possibilities.

Both the agriculture department and the National Research Council have taken an interest in the possibilities of the plant, which is native to British Columbia, and which has been known for some time.

Last year 100 plants were brought to Ottawa, but all failed to stand the winter.

"The plant has some rubber in it and yields a lot of gum, but it doesn't necessarily follow that there is a lot of rubber," an official said.

In Vancouver Nick Boldt, Netherlands research scientist, said Monday that experiments conducted in the last six years in suburban Vancouver had culminated in development of a rubber plant with a potential annual yield per acre of 600 pounds of rubber, of almost double the average yield from standard rubber plantations.

Boldt, who said his family has been interested in rubber plantations in the Dutch East Indies for many years, came to Canada in 1924 in quest of a pure rubber source.

He claimed the plant, which grows to a height of 18 feet in about 18 months, would put rubber on the market in Vancouver at a cost of 25 cents a pound, compared with the present average cost of 80 cents a pound for synthetic rubber.

Several unnamed Vancouver business speculators have assisted Boldt in financing his research.

Tests of the latex extracted from the plant have been conducted in Vancouver and Seattle chemical laboratories, and the Dominion research laboratory at Ottawa has named the new plant "lactuca biennis."

Plans have not yet been made for development of Boldt's plant.

Boldt's five years of work on his discovery was kept secret until last Saturday, when colored motion pictures showing extraction of latex from the plant were shown Vancouver rubber company officials.

One Woman's Day . . .

BOOKS AND BOOKWORMS

ON A VISIT to the public library recently in search of a particular book, I chatted for a few moments with the librarian.

A casual question elicited the interesting information that technical books are highest in popularity these days.

And, to my surprise, that books on fishing are very much in demand.

Modesty, of course, forbids my thinking that my recent blurbs about catfish and Shawnigan Lake have led to a great revival of the art of The Compleat Angler.

So I was not especially chagrined to hear that commercial, not cat, fishing is what is occupying the attention of these adult students.

POSTWAR PREPARATION

AS MANY of these readers are returned men, or men engaged in war industry, it throws an interesting light on the trend of their thoughts.

They evidently see a future in the fishing industry along our coasts, especially now that the Japanese "corner" in that occupation has been broken.

And the studying of technical books by large numbers of men is also a healthy and promising sign for the postwar period.

The more knowledge one can gain, whether in technical skills or in any other field, the better equipped one is to tackle whatever comes along.

For knowledge is an integral part of life's stock-in-trade, and time taken to acquire that knowledge is never wasted time.

EUROPE'S NEEDS

APROPOS of postwar habits, it is interesting to see, according to Philip S. Unwin in the Manchester Guardian, that whatever else the British public may buy, "there will be a hard core of urgent need for standard works and for the more important wartime books, from Europe, which has been starved of books for five years or more."

And he goes on:

"The replenishment of public library stocks in Britain alone will be another crying need. Not only have librarians been quite unable to buy many of the books they want, but their loss of books has been abnormally great—for two reasons.

"Air raids have destroyed many library buildings and their contents, but almost more serious in its effect has been the greater wear and tear of the existing stock."

G.I. MAGAZINE TASTES

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of tastes in books, it may be timely to note that a survey was made in the United States recently as to soldiers' reading.

This was done through the medium of a vote made under the Taft amendment to the Soldier Vote Act.

And, to my astonishment—and I am sure to the astonishment of many others—women's magazines ranked high in popularity among the G.I.'s.

For instance, "Good Housekeeping," "Mademoiselle," "Vogue," "Women's Home Companion" and the "Ladies' Home Journal" figured on many a he-man's' preference list!

Perhaps it is because these magazines offer so many delectable "pin-up girl" advertisements.

Or is it that the donning of battledress makes a man yearn for cooking recipes, or new hair-do's, or hints on making over the old suit?

GOING SINCE 1754

WHILE I WAS in New York in May, I heard of an unusual library, but unfortunately had no time to visit it.

So I was glad to receive from a reader a short time ago a clipping concerning it, although I do not know whence the clipping came.

It appears that the Society Library was established in Gotham in 1754, and has been going strong ever since.

That is, with the exception of the 14 years, 1774-88, during part of which time the British took over.

And its library ledger, kept since 1789, gives a remarkable revelation of the reading tastes of the 242 who could afford its expensive membership.

George Washington was one of them when, in 1789, during his presidency, he lived in New York for a time. One of the entries reads thus: "Laws of Nations—Commons Debates—Vol. 12—loaned to President."

HEAVY READING

OTHER EARLY AMERICAN notables also went in for heavy reading, and had voracious appetites, judging by the ledger.

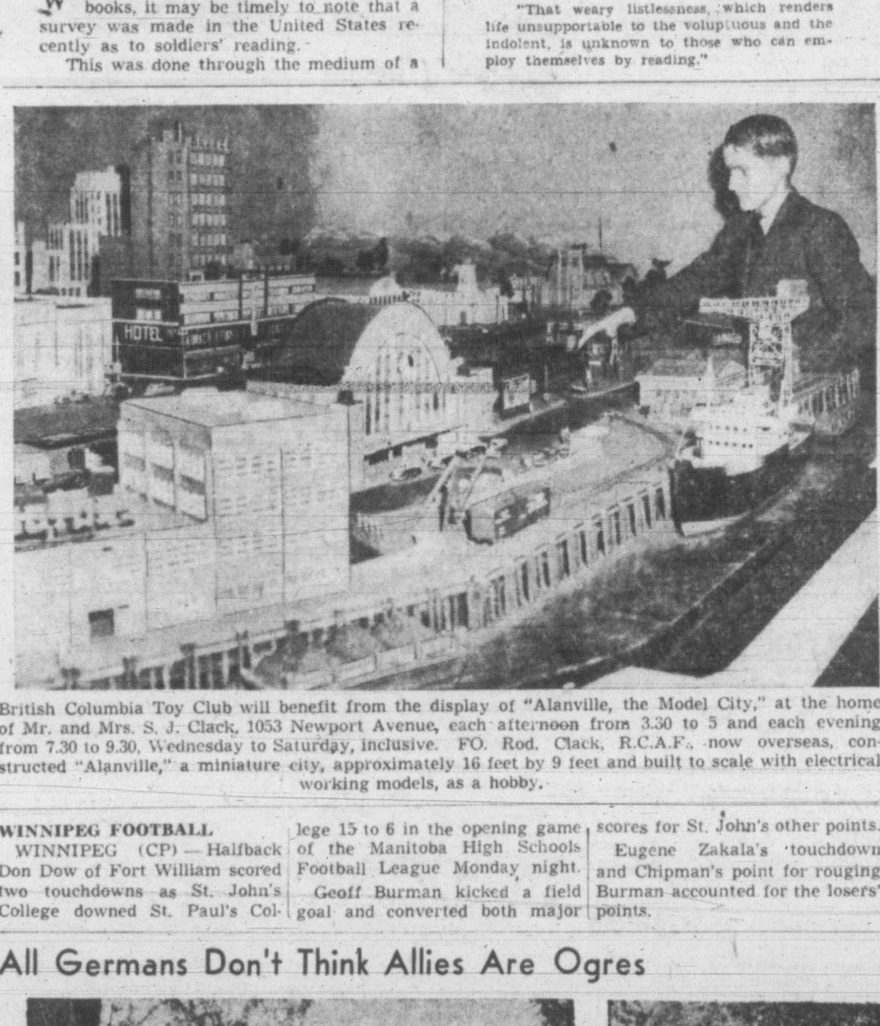
Aaron Burr must have been a great reader of history, for in 1789 he got through 18 volumes of the "Modern Universal History," as well as Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire," with eight volumes of Voltaire by way of diversion.

John Jay, then chief justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, managed to absorb 68 volumes in 18 months.

While James Roosevelt, great-grandfather of the President, was also a member with catholic tastes, ranging from Cotton Mather to Rabelais.

And today, what Fenelon, the French writer, wrote during the 17th Cetury still holds true:

"That weary listlessness, which renders life unsupportable to the voluptuous and the indolent, is unknown to those who can employ themselves by reading."



British Columbia Toy Club will benefit from the display of "Alanville, the Model City," at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Clack, 1053 Newport Avenue, each afternoon from 3.30 to 5 and each evening from 7.30 to 9.30, Wednesday to Saturday, inclusive. FO. Rod. Clack, R.C.A.F., now overseas, constructed "Alanville," a miniature city, approximately 16 feet by 9 feet and built to scale with electrical working models, as a hobby.

WINNIPEG FOOTBALL

WINNIPEG (CP) — Halfback Don Dow of Fort William scored two touchdowns as St. John's College downed St. Paul's College 15 to 6 in the opening game of the Manitoba High Schools Football League Monday night.

Geoff Burman kicked a field goal and converted both major scores for St. John's other points.

Eugene Zakala's touchdown and Chipman's point for rouging Burman accounted for the losers' points.

All Germans Don't Think Allies Are Ogres

To inspire them to fight with a last-ditch desperation, Nazi propaganda chiefs have tried to sell the German people the fear of a horrible fate should the Allies enter the Reich. Photos above seem to indicate that Herr Goebbels and Co. have flopped again. At left, above, citizens of a German village near Aachen, stand at the fence marking the Reich border, awaiting arrival of the Allies with no more concern than if they were waiting for the morning train. At right, smiling Allied soldiers look on as sizeable German family sits down, with apparent relish, to a meal of Allied rations.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Specialties, principally in the low-quoted category, attracted most of the buying in today's stock market while profit cashing served to stall leaders of the late September upswing.

Canadian issues were soft. Walkers gained ⅞ but C.P.R. eased ⅜ and Seagrams and Lake Shore were down ⅛.

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Ilsley announced today an issue of Dominion of Canada deposit certificates in the amount of $130,000,000, dated Oct. 3, 1944, and due April 3, 1945, had been sold to the chartered banks at par.

Regina Roughriders Out for Duration

REGINA (CP) — Regina Roughriders, long one of the most famous names in Canadian football, disbanded for the duration of the war on Monday night.

The team had been practicing for weeks, hoping to challenge for the Dominion senior title this fall, but inability to secure permission to use service personnel forced the club to disband.

Loss of backfielders in the services left Riders with only Joe Turner as a first string half-back.

It was announced the Riders will turn their attention to building up high school football.

Sticks to U.S. System

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ellsworth (Rep.-Ore.) found nothing in the British system of government which should be adopted here, he said Monday night on his return from Europe.

He was one of a dozen Congressmen who visited England and France the past few weeks.

Regarding the British government, Ellsworth told a reporter: "While I would consider it a 'popular' government, the background of legislation, the means by which 'popular' results are attained, is so different from our own legislative process that I felt a study at first would be beneficial."
